People of Wayne, Alberta Try to Salvage Parts of Homes As Stream Falls

Families Whose Houses Were Wrecked in Flood Following Cloudbursts Are Given Food Rushed From Drumheller; Red Cross Sending Clothing and Other Needed Supplies From Calgary

Drumheller, Alta., June 19.—Although the Rosebud Creek at Wayne, eight miles southwest of here, at noon to-day still was running high, all further danger of inundation of the hamlet had passed and the water was draining off the low-lying land.

This morning crowds of men, women and children emerged from the Rex Theatre, the Rosebud Hall, the two churches and other places, where they had spent the night and gazed at the wreckage of their homes. Scores of houses had been torn apart by the force of the water, while others had been washed away. Many of the families will be unable to salvage more than a few dollars' worth of the furniture they were compelled to abandon as the sudden rush of water enveloped the hamlet.

Early this morning relief in the form of groceries and bread was rushed to Wayne from Drumheller and Police Sgt. Shelton soon was high seas for supplies to the destitute families. The hamlet looks like a shambles, the streets being thick with mud, while debris is strewn over the roadways and vacant lots. One bridge was completely washed away in the village, while another was seriously damaged. The rain ceased at about 6 o'clock this morning, but the creek had commenced to subside late yesterday evening.

At Rosebush, on the East-Coulee Road, the approach to a traffic bridge was washed out by the waters of the creek.

It was impossible up to early this afternoon to estimate the total of the damage in the district. All mines at Wayne have suffered heavily. The Excelsior and Ideal mines being extensively damaged due to the cave-in slope at the Excelsior and the loss of the Ideal tipple. The barn at the Sovereign (Concluded on Page 2)

Canberra, Australia, June 19.—A caucus of the Commonwealth Labor Party to-day reluctantly approved the economy programme agreed on at the recent conference of premiers, believing the "Scullin mixture" preferable to the more bitter dose the party would swallow if there were a change in government.

Premier James Scullin, head of the Parliamentary Labor Party, is putting forward measures to carry out the recommendations of the conference, which would reduce interest on loans, reduce wages and salaries, reduce pension rates and increase certain taxes with the aim of achieving balanced budgets within three years.

COMMONS ENTERS FINAL STAGE OF YEAR'S SESSION

Following the divisions the House moved into committee of ways and means, in accordance with the main budget motion, and then on the motion of the Prime Minister rose and "reported progress."

VOTE ON SUB-AMENDMENT
In the divisions the U.F.A. sub-amendment was dealt with first. Its entire support came from the so-called "ginger group." Members of the U.F.A. and Labor groups and A. W. Neil, Independent member for Comox-Alberni, comprised its supporters. Against it were all the Liberals and Conservatives and Henri Bourassa, Independent member for Labelle, Que.

As voting time approached it was clear the entire Liberal Party would oppose the sub-amendment which had been offered by H. E. Spencer for the Independent U.F.A. group, as Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King on Tuesday last had condemned its proposal to abandon the gold standard. The majority against the sub-amendment was 150.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT
The division on the Liberal amendment followed, the Liberals supporting it and the Conservatives voting against it. Mr. Neil and Mr. Bourassa, the two Independents, voted with the Liberals. The U.F.A. and Labor group split. Those who supported the amendment were H. E. Spencer, Battle River; Robert Gardiner, Acadia, U.F.A. leader; G. G. Cooke, Mackenzie; Louis Agnes MacPhail, Southeast Grey, Ont.; J. S. Woodsworth, Winnipeg North Centre; A. A. Heaps, Winnipeg North; E. J. Garland, Bow River, and Angus MacInnis, Vancouver South. Against it were D. M. Kennedy, Peace River; A. Speckman, Red Deer; Mr. T. Lucas, Carleton Place; M. Campbell, Maitland; M. Luckovich, Vegreville, and William Irving, Wetaskiwin. The majority against the amendment was thirty-nine.

VOTE ON MAIN MOTION
The Liberals and Conservatives divided on strict party lines on the main budget motion, the Liberals opposing it and the Conservatives supporting it. All members of the Independent groups in the chamber, who were not paired, with the exception of D. M. Kennedy, voted against the motion. Mr. Kennedy did not vote. Presumably he exercised his right to abstain from voting according to the recent ruling in the House that the majority for the motion was thirty.

The budget speech was made by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett on the first day of June, but the debate did not actually begin until June 4, when Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, in his capacity of chief Liberal financial critic, led off.

CLOSING SPEECHES
The closing hours of the budget debate brought contributions from Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Liberal, St. James, Montreal, former Secretary of State, and Hon. Alfred Durnan, Minister of Marine.

The chief complaint he had against the budget, said Mr. Rinfret, was the tariff changes which had been made without study or the gathering of public information. Even if the Bennett government had a mandate to raise the tariff, even if it had a mandate for a high tariff, it did not have a mandate to raise it "in the most fantastic and whimsical fashion."

The government now proposed to appoint a tariff commission to advise it on what to do after it had already done things. When the old tariff board had been abolished the government's first duty should have been to establish a new one before revising the tariff.

RADISHES AND POTATOES
An instance of the danger of hasty tariff-making, said Mr. Rinfret, was the order-in-council authorizing radishes for potatoes in a tariff regulation. Apparently the government found the rates were not suitable for potatoes so decided to try them on radishes. "I say," he added, "if the government does not know the differences between radishes and potatoes, if it thinks a potato is an expanded radish, or a radish is a concentrated potato, it certainly needs the advice of a tariff board."

DURANLEAU'S OPINIONS
Mr. Duranleau, who represents Charnley-Vercheres, Que., said that during the last two days of the election campaign last summer, and when the Conservatives had not an opportunity to answer, an official organ of the Liberal Party in Quebec had raised a "war scare." It was a very serious matter to have adopted such tactics. There were "Grits" sitting in the Commons today from Quebec who would be in the House where it not for the raising of that cry, he claimed.

BUDGET AT POLLS
Excepting for the imprudence and inaccuracy of certain of Mr. Duranleau's statements, his remarks called for no comment, declared Mr. Rinfret. He had spoken on everything but the budget. If instead of spreading promises throughout the country, Premier Bennett had submitted this budget to the electorate, not only would he have been defeated, but very few Conservatives would have succeeded.

The statement of the Minister of Marine that the budget was "the most childish" Mr. Rinfret challenged the minister's observation that unemployment had decreased in Montreal. Commenting on the "war cry," the Foreign Secretary of State charged that every time it has been discussed, it had always been raised by the Conservative Party. The moment the government speakers dropped such things, they might be sure nothing more would be heard of "war cries" in Quebec.

SINKING FUND
F. W. Turnbull, Conservative, Regina, said he would like to see a sinking fund to pay off Canada's war debt. He was sure no one would complain if special taxes were imposed to effect this.

ATTEMPTS TOO MUCH
Vincent Dupuis, Liberal, La Prairie, Napierville, Que., did not think one man should carry the responsibility of three cabinet posts—those of Prime Minister, Minister of Finance and Secretary of State for External Affairs, as did Mr. Bennett. It militated against the Premier's capacity to watch over the general interests of the people at large.

GARLAND'S VIEWS
Canada was the tail of the United States dog, E. J. Garland, U.F.A. Bow River, declared during a speech, in which he advocated that Canada should lead in abandoning the gold standard.

The system could be properly regulated, more intelligently than ever before, he said. The leader of the opposition had pointed to the menace of industrial feudalism, but what did he think, asked Mr. Garland, of the threat of financial feudalism?

In years gone by there had been much talk of annexation to the United States, but annexation had taken place.

There were protests and cries of "shame" from the government benches. "As long as honorable gentlemen permit the Federal Reserve Bank to dictate our financial policies we are just in that position," concluded Mr. Garland.

RUSSIAN WHEAT
Russia was not the menace to Canada's wheat growers many people supposed, said E. F. Willis, Conservative, Souris, Man. There was no doubt Russia was selling wheat far below the cost of production and could not continue in that way. Many factors, said Mr. Willis, militated against great increase in Russian production.

CUTWORMS BUSY NEAR SASKATOON

Lanigan, Sask., June 19.—"In a wide section west of Saskatoon, wheat conditions are growing worse daily," H. C. Deboven, crop expert, says in his report to-day. "Many fields are badly damaged by worms, on top of serious damage already done by drought and dust storms, which still continue doing irreparable damage to stubbled-in portion which was looking fair a short time ago."

"The whole situation is forming a foundation for hot winds, which if it remains hot and dry, can easily originate over the scorched fields of the south and sweep northward into this season's best crop section of the province."

Election Outlook In Great Britain

London, June 19.—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, declared in a speech at Malvern yesterday evening he believed a general election in Great Britain could not be long delayed.

"When an election comes," he said, "it will probably come suddenly. It may well be that at a moment when we least expect it we shall be entering the big fight."

Mr. Baldwin prophesied there would be 3,000,000 unemployed in Britain before Christmas.

C.N.R. HOTELS STATED FEEDERS FOR RAILWAY

Thornton Points Commons Committee's Attention to Canada's Tourist Business

Says C.N.R. Management Decided on Hotel in Vancouver When Times Good

Ottawa, June 19.—The Canadian National Railway system assumed full responsibility for the construction of its hotel in Vancouver, Sir Henry Thornton, president, yesterday afternoon, told the Commons committee inquiring into the finances of the C.N.R. system. The erection of the building had been undertaken by the railway when it assumed the pledges of the Canadian Northern. When the latter was put through to Vancouver a contract had been made with the city under which the railway would erect a hotel there.

When the Canadian National took over the Canadian Northern system, Vancouver called for the fulfillment of the agreement. Finally, the city agreed to cancel all provisions if a 500-room hotel were constructed, and that was one of the reasons why it was embarked on "it," Sir Henry stated.

TIMES GOOD THEN
In assuming the responsibility for the increase in price, the first set by the Meighen government and the later one during the King government's term, Sir Henry said the railway had decided on a more costly hotel when times were booming and times were good.

"If I had known then that we would have such times as we now are experiencing, certainly that decision would not have been made," Sir Henry added.

His statements were made in reply to a question asked by Wilfred Hanbury, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, as to who had introduced the question of the construction of the hotel in Vancouver. Was Hon. R. J. Manion correct, he asked, in saying an unnecessarily large capital expenditure had been entailed?

ECHO OF SPEECH
The discussion was an echo of Dr. Manion's speech in the budget debate in the Commons. Dr. Manion explained that in 1926 the Meighen "shadow government" passed an order-in-council calling for the erection of a $3,500,000 hotel. "Between then and now," he added, "the cost went up to $9,000,000, and that was what I meant by unnecessarily capital expenditures."

Dr. Manion said he believed the Canadian National "would be better off to-day if no hotels had been built."

So far the Vancouver hotel had cost $2,900,000 and it was estimated an additional $5,000,000 would be needed to complete it, said Sir Henry Thornton. The railway officers had believed that the cost of the site and importance of Vancouver it would be unwise to erect a hotel that might become second class in a few years.

Extra rooms had been added, making it comparable with the hotel operated by the Canadian Pacific. Hon. W. D. Euler did not believe it would be possible to erect a first class hotel in the Pacific city at a cost of $3,500,000.

Dealing with the hotels operated by the Canadian National, Sir Henry said in 1930 this branch had reduced its operating deficit from over $1,000,000 to $126,000. This was only in operating loss and took no account of depreciation or capital expenditures.

"Some time," the railway president asserted, "I will not say when, possibly when the population of Canada becomes greater and when there is more travel and normal business conditions return—at that time I believe the hotel system will be operating at a profit."

BIG TOURIST TRADE
The Canadian National had an investment of $22,000,000 in its hotel system. Was this necessary? asked Peter McEwen, Conservative, Muskoka, Ont. The Chateau Laurier in Ottawa, for instance, taking account of interest charges, was losing $1,000 a week, he said.

Next to agriculture, replied Sir Henry, the most lucrative business in Canada was the tourist trade. It was Canada, all of which remained in this country.

The volume and progressive increase of this business was due to such factors as hotels, fishing and golf courses. These were tourist allurements. The Canadian National would be very glad not to operate any hotels if we thought we would not damage the country as a whole and injure ourselves in particular," added Sir Henry.

JASPER PARK
Jasper Park Lodge, for instance, had cost $2,500,000. In its eight years of operation it had returned this figure in increased earnings by the railway and $800,000 in addition. It was "one of the best earners we have," said the railway president.

At the present time an audit and general examination was being made of the whole hotel system, announced Sir Henry. An expert was determining whether the hotels were being operated efficiently. This report was expected to be received within a day or two.

STATIONS CLOSED
Referring to the railway system itself Sir Henry stated fifteen stations had been closed during the present year by the Canadian National Railways. As one means of economizing during the present depression unproductive stations in different parts of the country had been closed, including, in Saskatchewan and Alberta, three each.

IMPORTS CONTROL BILL DEBATED

London, June 19.—Leave to introduce a private member's bill in the Commons, aimed to protect the hours and wages of British labor against competition from foreign "sweated" labor, was granted by the Commons yesterday to Major A. N. Braithwaite, Conservative member for Buckrose, by 164 votes to 129.

Major Braithwaite said the bill would provide simple machinery to enable it to be decided whether goods were "sweated." If it was found any industry could only compete with the foreign industry by lowering the standards of living, Parliament should be asked to vote prohibition or control of the importation.

A few Labor members voted for the bill, which, however, is most unlikely to proceed any further in view of the congestion of the programme of the Commons.

THE FATE IT DESERVED

SENATOR BARNARD'S BILL TO LEGALIZE size sweepstakes was killed by the Senate on Thursday by a vote of thirty-four to twenty-two. Party lines were completely cut; Sir George Foster moved it to be given the six months' hoist and Senator Forke seconded the motion, while both House leaders opposed the bill and voted for the amendment.

Even if this measure had been approved by the Upper Chamber, it is fairly safe to assume the House of Commons would have rejected it. It is palpably unsound in principle and in the end would have defeated its own object. It would have paved the way for an epidemic of sweepstakes, since if it had been made lawful for hospitals to conduct such enterprises, every other organization and a host of charities from one end of the Dominion to the other would have pestered Parliament to give them similar privileges. And Parliament would have found it difficult to refuse once it had committed itself by approving the principle in the first place.

As Sir George Foster pointed out in his attack upon the bill, the people as a whole owe a duty to the sick, the poor, and the aged; but that duty should not be delegated to "a gambler's chance." The moral aspect of the question, however, is not the most important. The economic arguments are all against it for the reasons we have mentioned. The novelty soon would wear off, and the wells of benevolence, from which hospitals and other institutions are still compelled to draw a considerable amount of their financial support, would dry up.

This is hardly the time to talk about more taxation for anything; but the state will have to recognize, sooner or later, that the cost of the care of the sick who are unable to pay for it themselves must be met by some form of general tax, not only because it is a humanitarian duty, but also because it is good business for the state to preserve the health of its people—its producing assets.

TRYING TO FIND THE CAUSE

OPINIONS NATURALLY DIFFER AS TO what is the cause of the present business disturbance. The low value of wheat and silver has been mentioned.

Professor W. W. Swanson, head of the Department of Economics at the University of Saskatchewan, argues that if wheat recovered, we should be well on our way to better times.

An eminent British expert on monetary matters thinks if the buying power of silver were increased, the demand for western goods by the millions of the Oriental countries would grow immediately and stimulate employment.

Sir George Paish has been saying for months that the root of the world's present difficulty is in the increasing restrictions upon the flow of goods from one country to another.

The London Times comments: No general revival can be expected until fundamental obstacles to international trade are removed. What is really needed is not general inflation, but the demobilization of excessive tariffs and the scaling down of war debts to a reasonable level, and, above all, the abandonment of the attempt on the part of producers to circumvent the inevitable laws of supply and demand. There is no short cut to world prosperity by the path of monetary manipulation.

The interesting point about this view of the London daily is that it seems to be in conflict with its efforts to persuade Great Britain to forsake her traditional free trade policy and go in for the protective principle.

DESIRES TO BE FAIR

THE OTTAWA JOURNAL'S STAUNCH support of the new government at Ottawa does not permit it to lose its sense of proportion by any means, and it is obviously is resentful of the sniping campaign which is being carried on by some politicians and some Conservative newspapers. It says:

Listening to some critics of the Canadian National Railways, one might almost think that all the railways under private management were making tremendous profits. The truth, of course, is that last year was a bad year for all railways on this continent, and that, considering its special difficulties, the Canadian National stood up to the test as well as any other railway.

Not only was last year a poor year for all the railways of this continent; it was a very bad year for the privately-operated railway systems of Great Britain. The business simply was not there for the transportation companies to handle.

ESQUIMALT AS SEAPLANE BASE

TO THE NON-FLYING LAYMAN ESQUIMALT appears to be a satisfactory substitute for Victoria Harbor as a seaplane base in many respects. It is not as convenient for commercial purposes, of course, but it is only a short distance from the city by motor car route and seaplane passengers would not be inconvenienced very much by the change of location. Objections on other grounds, however, have been voiced by technical authorities, but whether these are of sufficient importance to influence the seaplane companies or not we shall know before long. If these concerns refuse to use Esquimalt Harbor on the advice of their expert advisers that it is unsuitable or because they think it would be undesirable for other reasons, there will be no commercial seaplanes operating between Victoria and the mainland, since it is evidently the intention of the government in the light of its latest announcement to prevent these aircraft from using Victoria Harbor.

The morning paper, in its comment on the government's announcement, says there is no truth in the suggestion that the government has opposed the use of Esquimalt Harbor as a seaplane base. That statement is incorrect on the very face of it, as well as in the face of our contemporary's own news announcement. Apart from the fact that the technical experts of the civil aviation branch of the Dominion Department of National Defence recommended Victoria Harbor as against Esquimalt, and that the government itself, through its local representative, approved of the Victoria Harbor site, not until now has the government expressed its willingness to allow Esquimalt Harbor to be used for this purpose.

Indeed, only a few months ago the department at Ottawa sent out its aviation experts to report upon the possibility of Cadboro Bay being used as a base, instead of Victoria Harbor. Moreover, if the government never has opposed the use of Esquimalt Harbor as a base, how does our morning contemporary explain the heading of its front-page article to-day, which says:

"D. B. Plunkett, federal member for Victoria, is instrumental in securing withdrawal of ruling by Ottawa authorities in connection with water area adjacent to naval base."

This is repeated in the opening paragraph under the heading. If the government never has opposed the use of Esquimalt Harbor for a seaplane base, it would be interesting to know just what "ruling" Mr. Plunkett induced the "Ottawa authorities" to withdraw so that this area can be used for seaplane purposes.

SOMETHING FOR THE PESSIMISTS

ON THE BASIS OF THE NUMBER OF unemployed, it would appear that Great Britain last year experienced her most difficult times since the end of the war. But there are other signs which seem to show that this was not the case. We are told, for instance, that the total of national savings certificates sold in the country in 1930 increased by no less than $40,000,000 over the previous twelve months. Withdrawals in the same period decreased by slightly more than this sum. Hence there was a net gain both ways.

The popularity of this form of saving is emphasized by the fact that there is at present $2,500,000,000 worth of these certificates standing untouched to the credit of hundreds of thousands of Britain's small investors, in itself tangible proof that despite all the statistical evidence which may appear to prove the contrary condition, the country is as solid as a rock at its base. For if wage earners are able to save more, they are building for the future, making themselves more secure.

UNCLE SAM IN NICARAGUA

THE TRUTH OF THE STATEMENT that it may be easy enough to send soldiers into a country but not so easy to bring them out again seems to be borne out by the fact that United States marines are still in Nicaragua—and are getting killed. Rebels recently wounded an officer and two of his men met death in the skirmish.

The New York World says there is no possible justification for United States marines participating in a civil war in Nicaragua, that American interests are not involved, and if they were, a better way could be found to protect them than by "military imperialism." The World suggests that, if for no other reason, the troops should be withdrawn at once in order that dwindling trade might be restored, since "the present method has made us hated throughout Latin-America."

It will be recalled that President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson announced a short time ago that a gradual withdrawal of the marines had been decided upon—part this summer and part next year. The World insists, however, that they be withdrawn at once and further bloodshed avoided.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AMERICAN BARONETS
 The Cleveland Plain Dealer

An American tourist in England a few months ago was startled when his host told him the "hall" in the park beyond the parish church was now occupied by an "American baronet." His protest that America knew no such title was politely contradicted. An "American baronet" said the native, had most certainly usurped the squirrel's place in the community. "Who is he?" asked the American. Samuel Insull from Chicago, said the son of England. If Philip Snowden's land tax plan goes through there are likely to be many more American baronets in historic English halls.

J. M. KEYNES
 The Ottawa Journal

Canada lately has suffered from an embarrassment of riches, so far as advice and counsel goes. But Canada cannot afford to have too much real information in this time of world crisis, and there is a type of real expert who will always be welcome, and whose opinions will be heard with respect. Such is Mr. J. M. Keynes, the famous economist of Cambridge University, who has just arrived in New York.

Report has it that efforts may be made to induce Mr. Keynes to come here, quite unofficially, to report on the world situation as it affects Canada. Mr. Keynes would not be in any sense an adviser to our Government; he would merely lay his views before our financial and commercial experts. Such a move would be valuable. Not only would Canadian business have the advantage of this economist's judgment, but Mr. Keynes would carry back with him word of the true position of Canada. We hope that efforts to bring him to Montreal will be successful.

NIGHTINGALES AT A DISCOUNT
 The London Morning Post

In all the world there is no song more beautiful than that of the nightingale, but the village of Merrow in Surrey is so much patronized by the songsters this year that the inhabitants are beginning to speak of their "peet nightingales."

Indeed, during the past week visitors have heard more than one person threaten to shoot the birds—if only they could catch them.

People living in the vicinity of Merrow Common, many of them land folk whose work calls them early from bed in the morning, are those who complain most bitterly. For as many as five and six nightingales tune up simultaneously between 10 and 11 o'clock each night. "There were two singing one against the other in an elm tree, just outside my window the other night," one man said, "and the din was so awful that I thought I might get some sleep in the back bedroom. But it was no better there, because another nightingale was singing in the pear tree in my garden."

A THOUGHT

And if any man obey not our word by this epistle, note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed.—II Thessalonians III 14.

We need only obey. There is guidance for each of us, and by lowly listening we shall hear the right word.—Emerson.

Loose Ends

A boost for government in the abstract—a reproach to an eminent gent.—and the explanation of a deep mystery under the house.

By H. B. W.

GOVERNMENT IN ALL its branches federal, provincial and municipal costs British Columbians about $130 a year per head, according to some figures which have just been issued by the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada. I have just been making some calculations, and it seems to me that while this figure is pretty high compared to governmental costs in other parts of Canada, still, it is remarkably low when you come to add up what you get in return for it. For the $130 a year, with the average British Columbia resident pays into the three treasuries he receives more than for any other similar sum he can possibly spend. He gets good roads, fire protection, police with white horses, uniforms, parks (with white benches and electric light, proximity to theatres an opportunity of employment usually in our particular case, the inspiring presence of a government at his very doorstep, daily messages of wisdom from this column and all the other columns of our splendid civilization. And all for $130, or $10.83 a month. That is about a quarter of the cost of running an automobile, and most families spend a good deal more than that on clothing. Many people will use far more than the total year's taxes for two weeks' vacation in the summer, or on a single fur coat for their wives. Lots of fellows contribute more to the government through the liquor stores than they are required to pay in taxes. So if you are an average man you must agree that your most profitable investment is in the government. The only trouble is that so far as I can find out, anyone who pays anything at all to the three governments pays more than the average $130 a year. The suspicion has been growing on me for some time that there is no such thing as the average man.

AMERICANS, ACCORDING to a recent pregnant utterance from President Hoover, are still "fighting the war of independence," not for independence of England, but of one another. Such statements from the heads of great nations are annoying because they are preposterous, and at a time like this one is not in the humor for them. The war for independence of one another, as Mr. Hoover must know, was finished long ago, and the forces of independence were utterly defeated. All that is left is the settlement of the terms of peace—how we are going to get along together now that we are so hopelessly dependent on one another. At the moment it looks as if the victorious forces of dependence were going to impose pretty drastic conditions on the forces of independence. The whole tendency of civilization is in that direction and we might as well face it. Almost every act of government in this as well as other countries is away from the idea of individual independence. At this moment every government in Canada, federal, provincial and municipal, is taking money from those who have it to give it to people who haven't even got jobs. Those who haven't got jobs are made directly dependent on those who have and by a curious paradox, those who have got jobs are dependent on those who haven't got jobs, because they must make the jobs possible. At the same time, by our tariff, we are forced to pay unnatural prices to keep other parts of the population employed in protected industries, and by another paradox, still more curious, we suddenly find that we are also dependent on foreign markets for the sale of our goods. We are helping to turn against us. So we are not only utterly dependent on one another, but also on every other nation and on savage peoples in unknown lands. We are going to be more and more dependent as time goes on, and the only thing to do is to make it as agreeable as possible instead of wasting our time trying to prove that it isn't so.

PERHAPS, WRETCHED reader, you will permit a closing word to explain a matter which the neighbors out this way find very puzzling. They are puzzled to know why Mr. Pudbury and Mr. Beak, who recently built a playhouse for the little girl next door as so beautiful a new feature to the place. Well, it is a rather distressing story. You see, after the house had been completed in the curious fashion already recorded, and after the little girl had moved in, bag and baggage and Mr. Pudbury and Mr. Beak imagined that their troubles were over for a while, suddenly one day the little girl came racing across the field where Mr. Pudbury was working and shrieked as she raced: "Ball is lost! Ball is lost!" So Mr. Pudbury had to turn from the melancholy job of contemplating the ruin of his house, and the loss of the worst job of trying to find the red ball under the playhouse.

THIS WAS a formidable job, indeed. Mr. Pudbury lay on his front and he lay on his back and still, by groping under the house, he could not find the red ball. Then he summoned Mr. Beak who, being thinner, might be able to reach better; but Mr. Beak, though he lay on his front and his back and peered down the hole in the floor and almost stood on his head, also failed. So finally Mr. Pudbury and Mr. Beak, goaded by the fierce clamor of the little girl (who has no conscience) started to take up the floor, and Mr. Beak, who had complained that Mr. Pudbury had not nailed the floor down strongly enough, now protested that it was nailed far too strongly. And just as they were taking up the last board a few minutes ago the little girl came running out of the woods trying to say something important, but dumb with excitement. Finally she gulped: "Nipper took red ball in woods, bag dog Nipper. He lost it! Not under house."

after all! Whereupon, out of the pocket of her pink pants, she produced the little red ball which had dog Nipper had lost in the woods. Mr. Pudbury and Mr. Beak without a word started to nail down the floor again.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES,
 JUNE 19, 1906

(From The Times Files)
 Fitch and Lester this morning completed the purchase of two lots, 114 by 80, at the northwest corner of Port and Wharf Streets, from the Donald Fraser estate.

The announcement of the annual northwest yacht meet to be held at Beltsville from June 2 to 6, has turned the attention of many local sportsmen towards yachting.

From Asia to America, the voyage of the R.M.S. Empress of China, said Captain Archibald this morning, was marked by fine weather and few incidents apart from the commonplace in ocean travel.

The garrison at Work Point barracks is gradually being recruited up to its former strength. With the withdrawal of the imperial forces it was feared that the garrison would remain practically at the strength represented by the members of the old force who were elected to join the Canadian service.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Moderate northerly and easterly winds, fine and warm to-day and Wednesday.

All the city schools will close for the midsummer holidays on Friday next, with suitable exercises in each school.

That North Ward wants the promised arena built quickly was amply demonstrated at last night's meeting of the City Council.

CORRECTION

To the Editor—Will you kindly make the following correction in my letter to your paper?

I am informed on very reliable grounds that the salary of Mr. Williams is $16.66 (sixteen dollars sixty-six cents) per month to the unemployed fund out of his aldermanic remuneration. I did not know this at the time of writing, or I would not have included him in my general remarks about our city council.

REPORT

To the Editor—Sir, after reading Mr. Morgan's letter in your issue of June 17, re airport, I fail to see how the subject of birth control can be as he claims. I have been a taxpayer in the city for quite a number of years, and my taxes have steadily risen in dollars, not cents. If the airport is going to be such a fine thing for the city, why don't those gentlemen, who are so enthusiastic for it, form a committee and risk their own money, instead of asking the taxpayers to risk theirs.

PARTY POLITICS

To the Editor—There has been lately quite a lot of correspondence from one who signs himself "T. Guy Sheppard." It would appear from his articles that he would like to be an other emancipator, but what he offers is another party, which he states must be a party of the constitution, and which will cease to function as a party as soon as the objective is attained. The average person is so fed up with political promises that he is very much in doubt about the issue, and consequently does not take much interest in "party" stuff.

If Mr. Sheppard is so much for reform, let him take for a base to work from the lines laid down by The Vancouver Province and provincially organized and demand a referendum as to whether the people want a party system of government with all its ills and expense, or a safe and sound business government, the business of a limited number of say, fifteen or twenty good business heads on no party lines, whose duty shall be the affairs of the people fifty-two weeks a year, not just merely a short session.

Reminding Mr. Sheppard again that constitutionally he has got the wrong end of the business of the people, first, last, and all the time, and now is the time for a referendum of the people, by the people and for the people.

Langford, B.C. June 18, 1931.

SILVER AND GOLD

To the Editor—We are warned that the world is facing a shortage of gold and the share peddler of worthless gold stocks is making the most of the situation, judging by my daily mail. What is the meaning of it all? Is it a case of "who the gods wish to destroy they first make mad?" Here in the United States with more than half the world's gold, with 7,000, 000 unemployed (admitted) with over 1,300 bank failures in 1930 alone, with the highest tariff of any country in the world, and this is the best it can do.

If you go to England and accept a five pound note, you don't worry because there is only probably twenty shillings in gold behind it. If you go to New York and accept $25, you don't fear any happier because there must be its equivalent in gold stored down in some basement. You may depend on it: in either case you will not see it, let alone handle it.

The world's granaries are full to overflowing, foods of all kinds are plentiful, and yet the talk of all of disaster because of the scarcity of an ounce of gold.

A farmer now has to give forty bushels of wheat for the equivalent of an ounce of gold, as gold gets scarcer he has to give more, when he has to give eighty he will probably say, "Get in. And raise your own wheat. Then we will raise our food or starve, and all because we cannot find enough of a thing of which the only real usefulness seems to be in dentistry.

There is plenty of gold in the world, but much of it cannot be produced for what it can be sold, therefore, the solution would seem to be to pay more for it.

If the price of silver could be boosted overnight fifty per cent only, it would cause more joy to the farmer than the discovery of fifty billion pounds of gold. That might prove a real disaster, as we should have to turn then to platinum or radium. Yes, certainly, "Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad."

SYDNEY ASHDOWN,

SOME IMPRESSIONS OF CENTRAL OREGON

To the Editor—One of the earliest impressions is of the country's beauty. Very extensive plains, dotted with "mounds," a localism for its high, rolling hills, which increase in number, and become more interpermeated with pretty valleys, as one passes from plain to mountain district. Especially in the mountain-valley sections, but everywhere, are beautiful oaks, poplars, and dark firs, at their best in this "leafy month of June"; some in single, spreading symmetry, and others, lightly grouped on field or hillside. Particularly in the hill-and-dale parts, the winding drives are full of charm, with never-ending change of scene.

The Willamette Valley is justly famed, also, for its fertility. Its river, of the same name, is a large one, running smoothly and sedately through, northwards, to the Columbia, at Portland. The farms average about seventy-five acres, with many commodious and attractive houses and barns. We are, at present, housed on a farm of 140 acres, near Brownsville, where fine prunes and cherries, as well as prime grains and vegetables, are grown. Our host has, also, good horses, sheep, pigs, hens and turkeys—of the last, seventy-six young ones.

Lebanon, northeast of us, is noted for its strawberries (now retailed at four boxes for 25 cents); Corvallis, north, for its superior grains and grasses, with some fruit, and Dunes, thirty miles further north, specializes in growing and drying prunes (one farmer's drier cost $20,000). Albany, to the northwest from here, centres a fine dairying and berry-growing district. Other localities have their own specialties, but all seem pretty and productive. Everywhere, even on the flatter, wide-extended plains, the farmers leave many young trees undisturbed, to grow into shade form "in the open," and provide grateful summer shade for their stock.

This is a moist country. Though there had been quite a dry time up till a few days ago, the signs of dampness were evident everywhere in the willow-festooned moss, hanging lichen long from the trees, and various shorter mosses abundant on fences, rocks, and platforms. Later, the excessive days is keeping the air cool, beautifying the landscape, and quickening the growth of valuable crops. Not strange that the Oregonians are called "Weebies," even though, like Victoria, they have a pretty long dry season.

One is also impressed with the hearty, unaffected friendliness of the people, in home, in churches, or on the mart. I am sure that now is the time to see this lovely land, and enjoy the smiles and hospitality of its citizens.

WM. ELLIOTT,

IS THE CHURCH DYING?

To the Editor—The Rev. Canon Lawrence Skye of St. Ann's Anglican Church in Toronto is quoted in your esteemed paper a few weeks ago on the subject of birth control. He was asked to talk to husbands on the subject of birth control, and is said to be "emphatic that much misfortune was caused by ignorance of birth control. God never meant children to be born in squalor and despair."

It seems to me that a prominent member of a clergy should be able to represent the teachings of the Christ has gone far away from the philosophical meaning of these teachings and relief for overproduction of children in that direction. It seems to me that "self-restraint" is the only attitude which a spiritual leader should take to remain true to the philosophy of his religion. Would the reverend gentleman also be willing to teach his congregation that it would be desirable to provoke artificial vomiting to get rid of overeating inconveniences? The same argument: That it is so nice to eat, that some people cannot resist the temptation of "hogging" would almost word for word apply. The living of a life of sensuality is as inferior in relation to the sex instinct as it would be if we lived only to tickle the tongue and palate. A spiritual teacher should, I think, teach his congregation that slavery to the senses is a proof of failure, not that there are escapes to natural results, like vomiting artificially produced, or birth-control encouraged by the Canon. If God never meant that children should be born in squalor, then the conditions over the world in all lands are continuously diametrically opposite to the meaning of God as proposed by the said religious official. Whether we come in darkest Africa or in our much overladen Arian civilization, squalor is a predominant aspect of the life of the lower classes. It seems better to look at life as a school with different classes of attainment each and every one of them useful and contributing to the soul's evolution, than to postulate a deity continuously over-ruled by facts as we see them everywhere around us. The omnipotence of such a deity is then put in question, which is not the case in the school comprehension of life. A church which does not teach is a non-value. A church which teaches is a value.

But perhaps the reverend gentleman wishes to contribute to the language by giving a new and anglicized meaning to the word "Gonorrhea?"

GOVERNMENT HOUSE FETE TO-MORROW

Girl Guides' Annual Garden Party to Have Many Attractions

Administrator to Open Affairs; Proceeds For Camp Funds

Impetus to the Girl Guide movement, particularly for its camps, which frequently provide the only holiday for some of its poorer members, is anticipated by the promoters of the annual garden fete to be held at Government House to-morrow afternoon. The sunshine following the rain of the early week has added the final touch of beauty to the grounds, and it is expected that visitors to the city as well as citizens will avail themselves of this opportunity to wander through the beautiful gardens. The Guides have arranged many novel attractions.

MARCH PAST.
Proceedings will start at 3 o'clock with the march past of the guide companies of South Vancouver Island division. The salute will be taken by the provincial commissioner, Mrs. Alan McKillop, who will afterwards present the colors to the Joan of Arc Company. The opening ceremony will be performed by his honor the administrator.

The grand salute and a singing game will be given by the Brownies, followed by a display of guide work. The pipes of the 1st Battalion, 16th Canadian Scottish, will provide music during the afternoon. Tea will be served in the old rose garden by the ladies of the local association.

FOR CAMP EXPENSES.
By the annual fete, the guides usually reckon to make about $500 for their work during the coming year. The expenses of the fete do not amount to more than $30, owing to the energy and generosity of all concerned. The proceeds to the local association, the fifteen companies, and, in small measure to the seven Brownie Packs. It is used to help out with camp expenses and pay for camp expenses, equipment, etc., in the following year. In camp the children get ten glorious days of open air life (as a rule they sleep under the stars) and for many of the guides it is the only country holiday in the year. Realizing the enormous benefit this is to the children, it has become the custom to pay about $2 per head from company funds towards the expenses, so that no child need be prevented from camping.

PUBLIC SUPPORT.
This payment is made from the proceeds on the fete, but this year the expenses of the fete have already been increased by the necessity of postponing it from May 31 to June 20. In addition to this there is a falling off in the takings, as the companies will be unable to help with camp expenses in a year when it is particularly desirable to do so, as many guide parents are contending with the problems of unemployment and reduction of wages.

The citizens of Victoria are therefore earnestly asked to make a special effort to attend the fete and help the guides to carry out their work.

Should the weather prove uncertain, the fete will be held in the main building at the War Memorial grounds. News of the final location will be broadcast this evening.

HOLIDAY CAMP IN FULL SWING

Eleven Mothers and Thirty-six Children Guests of Social Service

With the departure of six mothers and their children to-day to the Sunshine Camp at Saseen, the Social Service League has completed the installation of its first party of mothers and children for this season. Eleven mothers and thirty-six children are in residence, all ready to enjoy the sunshine and restful surroundings at this beauty spot near Sooke. The camp will remain open until September, and from now on till the end of the season a "full house" is anticipated.

The official opening of the camp is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon next. Wm. Croft, president of the Social Service League, has charge of the programme, and Mrs. Denton Holmes will superintend the arrangements for the serving of tea.

The Mary Croft Equilmait Chapter, I.O.P.E., is building a nursery in memory of Mrs. Croft, and it is anticipated that this will be completed and ready for inspection by Tuesday next.

W.I. DISCUSS IMMIGRATION

B.C. Institutes Say Doukhobor Trouble Shows Group Settlement Is Mistake

Canadian Press

St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., June 19.—Immigration activities of the Women's Institutes of Canada were reported by Mrs. W. Mutch, Rocky Point, P.E.I., for the east, and Mrs. B. F. Paddon, Upper Sumas, B.C., for the west, before the National Convention of Canadian Women's Institutes being held here. W.I.s throughout Canada are in accord with the present immigration policy of allowing to come to the country only those who are able to support themselves, and to settle in a warm welcome to their various districts, teaching them Canadian ways of cooking, etc., giving financial assistance and helping them to get started in every way.

GROUP SETTLEMENT.
British Columbia with its Doukhobor problem, reports that group settlement is not conducive to the best interests of Canada. This province, too, with its large Oriental population, is against the modification of immigration regulations, this being asked for by a petition of 35,000 Chinese residents of Canada.

The Maritimes, too, are pleased that the exodus of young people from their provinces has been retarded, owing to U.S. legislation, and that many have returned to their abandoned farms. They are of the opinion that British immigrants make the best settlers. New Brunswick reports fine success of the five-year tripartite settlement scheme, wherein the British Government, Canadian and provincial governments unite in giving concessions. Three hundred families have come in under this scheme, which still has two years to run. There is also a similar plan regarding immigrant British boys, but, as yet, comparatively few boys have been able to qualify under the terms stated. Quebec would like a W.I. member on the board of directors of the Canadian Women's Hostel, "in order to keep more closely in touch with immigrant girls going out as domestics to rural communities."

Alberta realizes the great need of population and advances the idea of the development of industries in the foundation of newcomers being able to make a living. Mrs. C. Lynch Staunton of Lethbridge, convenor, urges on all to pledge support to Canadian industries and bring back prosperity.

LEGISLATION REPORT.
"Interest in the work of legislation is steadily increasing among the members of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada," stated Mrs. W. Lang of Toronto, national convenor of legislation. This was shown by the wide-spread existing legislation and its effect on the lives of their various communities, also in educating public opinion for new reforms, she reported.

Suggested lines of work for the next biennial period put forth by Mrs. Lang were: A study of the desertion laws of the provinces, with a view to having these made uniform; of inheritance laws, working towards legislation in all the provinces, which would give full widows, and at least minor children, the right to a certain proportion of the husband's and father's estate; labor legislation; domestic and nationality of married women; sex discrimination; removal bills, and county health units.

B.C. LAW COMMENTED.
In reviewing past reforms, Mrs. Lang commented the film censorship laws of British Columbia, Alberta, Ontario and Manitoba, especially the stamping of pictures suitable for children. "The legal position of women has been advanced," she stated, "by acts abolishing all sex discrimination and also by the far-reaching decision of the Privy Council that women are persons who can be called to the bar."

In conclusion, she urged on all women voters to give up some of their hard-earned leisure and study the proposed amendments to the constitution, with a view to preparing themselves to cast intelligent votes when the opportunities arise.

English Women Now Paint Legs At Wimbledon

London, June 19.—(CP Cable)—Stockings and painted legs are to be seen among the British women competitors in the Wimbledon tennis trials now being played at Roehampton. From a distance the color gives the impression that stockings are worn.

Garden Fete At St. Barnabas Very Successful

Mrs. C. de V. Schofield officiated at the opening of the annual garden party of the Guild and Women's Auxiliary of St. Barnabas Church on Wednesday afternoon. During the course of her address, the Bishop's wife referred with regret to the absence of the president, Mrs. W. Heatherbell, who had been called east owing to the serious illness of her son, Mrs. Carley, vice-president, and Mrs. Schreiner, with a bouquet of flowers.

Fortunately, the heavy rain ceased and fine weather prevailed, and over 500 guests were present. Dainty stalls were displayed and tea was served in the schoolroom where the tea tables were decorated with sweet peas. The doll was won by Margaret Smith, which was drawn for, no one guessing the name correctly.

A very successful card party was held in the evening.

Banish PIMPLES Sallow Skin

Lift the Ugly Veil of Blemishes
Beneath the surface lies radiant complexion beauty, ready and waiting to give the charm of glowing health to the skin—clear, silken, soft,
fine-textured and warmly colored—just as soon as the basic cause of blemishes is removed.
Stuart's Calcium Wafers correct this cause.
Pimples, acne, sallowness, blotches, and dull, pasty complexion all too frequently result from intestinal straits—an internal sluggishness that poisons the entire system. A toxic blood-stream feeds impurities to the skin tissues. Infections and blemishes flourish. Such a condition is septic, and bodily resistance is
low. Disease finds a septic system easy prey.
Correction is easy—if the condition is recognized. But septic seldom know. No one will tell you of a feld beneath or body odor. But your mirror will reveal these skin blemishes—
Nature's signals of a septic system.
Three Days Will Work A Marvelous Change
Try this week-end test: A few tiny calcium wafers (Stuart's) will supply the elements that Nature needs. Speedily everything will be made anew, and clear, inside as well as out.
A purified blood-stream will show immediately.
Eyes Brighten Skin Clear—soft, smooth and warm with color!

QUEEN OPENS ART EXHIBIT

Her Majesty Tells Sponsors
in London "It Pays to Advertise"

Canadian Press
London, June 19.—"It pays to advertise; you must advertise." This was the advice given by Queen Mary when she visited the Loan Exhibition of Works of Art being held in aid of the East London Hospital for children at Dorchester House. When Her Majesty arrived there were few people present.
However, newspapers the following day played up the Queen's reference to advertising, and as a result the exhibition has been crowded since then.
Princess Mary attended the exhibition
a few days ago.

James Bay Y.P.S. Held Banquet

A banquet at which thirty young people were present marked the end of the winter and the beginning of the summer activities of the James Bay
United Church Young People's Society. The entertainment was given in honor of the winning groups by the losing groups in the membership contest conducted during the winter. Cecil Davies, president of the Y.P.S., was in the chair and led the community singing. Robert Darcy gave an account of the monies raised and disbursed, showing that over $100 had been given to the church in the form of donations
and new hymn books.
The trophy which is to be competed for each year at the annual conference and which was won this year by James Bay was on display. It is a beautiful picture of the flag of the United Church of Christ, the Thomas
Crosby, its skipper, Rev. Robert C.
Scott, and the "grand old man" of the fleet, Captain Oliver Fred Robins, who delivered the trophy, expressed the hope that it might remain a long time with its present holders. At the conclusion of the banquet, on behalf of the Y.P.S., Mr. Cecil Davies presented Rev. W. R. Brown with a leather-bound initialled copy of the new hymnary in appreciation of his interest in the work of the young people. Miss Marjorie Schroeder presented Mrs. Brown with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Establish Cause Of Woman's Death Following Coma

Vancouver, June 19.—Death of Mrs.
T. E. Marshall, Vancouver woman, who lay in a hospital here for two days in a condition which caused disagreement as to whether she was dead or in a state of coma, was due to a brain
tumor and carcinoma of the breast,
according to a report to police by Dr.
A. W. Hunter, coroner's physician.
Mrs. Marshall was pronounced dead
yesterday.
During the time she lay in a doubtful condition, Mrs. Marshall showed all outward appearances of being dead, but nevertheless responded to blood tests.
The body continued warm for a considerable time and blood could be drawn from her body and ear.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

DEFINITE INFORMATION REQUIRED
FOR INTELLIGENT HELP

Intelligent answers to questions about babies must be based on definite information regarding their age and weight. "My baby" is a pretty indefinite term upon which to build any kind of picture. Some mothers call their children "babies" until they are five or more years old. Remember that your baby is a stranger to me. One might paraphrase Will Rogers and say,
"All I know is what I read in the letters."

A faithful reader sets me hunting for answers when she says, "Print a schedule for my baby who is going on three meals a day. When do I give baths and naps?"

MAKING A GUESS
Doesn't tell one very much, does it?
But I have to suppose that a baby going on three meals a day must be about one year of age, so I am answering the question on the basis of that age. The three-meal-a-day schedule for the year-old boy would be as follows:

7 a.m.—Cereal with milk. Rest of milk to drink by cup.
11 a.m.—Two-ounce glass of strained
orange juice.
1:30 a.m.—Bath.
12 noon—Egg; vegetables such as potato and beans, or potato and carrots, or spinach or asparagus, etc. Simple milk desert and tall cupful of milk
to drink.
1:30 p.m.—Long nap lasting at least until 2 p.m.
5:30 p.m.—Undress baby, sponge off swiftly, put on nightclothes.

Put the baby to bed in the coolest room. If unbearably hot, an electric fan may be placed in such a position as to keep the air moving but not blowing directly on the child. Use thin cotton nightgowns and no covers until such time as the temperature demands it. The excuse that baby will not go to sleep because it is light, is not a valid one, for babies go to sleep in daytime regardless of the light and can do the same at night.

May Be the Mother Herself."

crispness... that's a Muffet!

They're delightful. The enticing flavour of whole wheat tempts the jaded appetite.
Delicious served crisp with sugar and cream

United States' Turn to Win Ryder Cup Golf Matches
U.S. Golfers in Real Campaign Against Balloon
In Vote on New Pellet Count Is 20 to 1 Against It
Dempsey's Reno Fight Promises To Be First-Class Bout

ACCORDING TO THE law of averages, the United States will win the Ryder Cup golf matches with the British professionals at Columbus, June 26 and 27. The Americans lost the first match, won the second and dropped the third last year. And then again the American players will have the big advantage of being familiar with the new and lighter golf ball, which will be used in the series.

The Ryder Cup competition was first introduced in 1926, an idea of Samuel Ryder, prominent English sportsman. Mr. Ryder donated the cup, symbolizing friendship and sportsmanship and a better understanding between English-speaking people. He named the competition only for home-breds.

Great Britain overwhelmed the Americans 13½ to 1½ in the first series in 1926. They met again next year and the Americans scored a 9½ to 2½ victory. Following the 1927 matches, biennial competition was proposed on alternate years with the Walker Cup competition for amateurs.

While speaking of gold, it appears a good time to write a few lines on the extensive campaign being carried on in the United States to find out whether or not the new balloon ball is popular. A prominent New York newspaper started a poll and early returns were 20 to 1 against the balloon. Perhaps the balloon, like prohibition, is a noble experiment and requires a thorough trial.

A history of the golf ball might also prove interesting. After the introduction of the Haskell, the first rubber-covered ball, the size most commonly used was about 70 and 120 in diameter with weight slightly above a flouter. From 1915 to 1919 various makes of balls were made under more than fifteen different patents and the size was not until the advent of the small, heavy balls, which golfers of 1918 and 1919 found hard to get off the ground, that the ball was 1½ inches in diameter and 1.62 inches in weight was adopted, effective May 1, 1921.

In 1924 a series of tests by mechanical driving and actual play were conducted in the United States with balls of great variety of sizes and weights. From this research, the U.S.A. Golf Association adopted the new balloon ball, introduced on January 1 of this year. However, Great Britain and Canada have stuck by the old and heavier pellet.

On July 4, the day after the Cleveland fight, between Schmeling and Spritzing, Jack Dempsey is expected to start as a big-time promoter. He has Max Baer and Paulino Uzcudun on for twenty round at Reno. It is forecast this fight will fill the arena, being built for it. The western coast wants to visit Reno and see the gambling and all the excitement of renewed "frontier days" as well as a good fight. And this will be a good fight. Baer has lost decisions to clever boxers, Schaefer and Loughran, but while they outboxed him they did nothing else and they were in danger from the fight. Baer is big, tough, strong, game and willing. Paulino seems to be back in his best form, and he's one tough son of a gun. It will be a corking fight, and with twenty rounds it ought to go to a knockout. It will make the winner a drawing card with the next heavy-weight Dempsey puts on.

Dempsey says that he is going to stick to promoting in Reno. That even may become the Monte Carlo of boxing. It's the one place in the United States where fights can still be held over the real championship route. Haven't a doubt that Nevada will extend the limit to twenty-five or forty-five rounds, or perhaps to a finish. And at that, if the champions can be persuaded to go the route, Dempsey will be holding the only genuine championship fights in the country.

When Dempsey went to the sheriff in Reno to see about fight arrangements he said:

"Mr. Sheriff, I'd like to get a permit to hold a boxing exhibition."

"Nothing doing," roared the sheriff. "We don't issue permits for boxing exhibitions. If you want a permit to promote a prize fight you can have it."

Regina Football Eleven Wins After 420 Minutes Play

Regina, Sask., June 19.—After battling through exactly seven hours of strenuous cup-tie football before eliminating the White Stars from the Dominion soccer series, the Canadian Nationals of this city have entered the local final. In the fourth meeting of the teams yesterday evening, The Railwaysmen defeated their rivals, 2 to 1, to take the verdict, after having been held to a tie on three previous occasions. Two of the games going into extra time to make the total playing time 420 minutes. It is a record for local football.

Vancouver Star And U.S. Champ Battle In South

Hero of 1928 Olympic Games and Holder of U.S. Intercollegiate Sprint Championship Occupy Spotlight in Monster Athletic Programme Scheduled at Los Angeles This Evening; Wykoff Out to Avenge Two Former Defeats; Ben Eastman and Vic Williams Will Also Clash; Galaxy of Stars in Many Events

Los Angeles, June 19.—Two famous track feuds, one of three years standing, will be renewed here to-night when the best of southern California's athletes plus several importations take to the Olympic Stadium for the annual southern Pacific A.A.U. track and field championships.

While the sheer impressiveness of the entry list in the 100-yard dash makes this abbreviated sprint event, with the clash of Frank Wykoff and Percy Williams, the most important race to be settled, it will only slightly eclipse the third meeting of Ben Eastman and Vic Williams in the quarter mile.

World records tremble, not only in anticipation of these contests, but also in the pole vault and shot put. Wykoff, the University of Southern California sprinter, whose name stands alone as the applicant for a new world's 100-yard dash record at .94 seconds, will seek to avenge two defeats by the Vancouver youth, the first and most important, coming in the 1928 Olympic games which Williams won.

Two years ago the Trojan was defeated again in a race against Williams at Vancouver, but he has improved remarkably to become intercollegiate champion for two years running.

Other stars entered. This race is far from a dual affair for the entries include Cy Leland, formerly of Texas sprint fame, and Paulino Uzcudun, according to an announcement by Dempsey yesterday, New Orleans sprinter who ran 9.5 seconds at Chicago recently, and Fletcher Ted Meredith, world record holder, winner from Sioux City, Iowa, who has not met defeat since last season.

The fact that both Eastman, Stanford's great middle distance expert, and Williams, holder of the National Intercollegiate and A.A.U. titles, are not in the condition they were when they staged two sensational races to place a victory apiece in 47.4 seconds, giving Ted Meredith's world record, serves to detract only a little from their third meeting.

They will be hard put to finish one-two in this race, for in the same race as Riley Williamson, former Oklahoma Baptist College runner, and Art Woessner, Williams' Trojan team mate, both capable of around 48 seconds flat.

Herman Brix, Los Angeles club sprinter who has hovered about world record figures, and only a week ago equalled Emil Herschfeld's best time of fifty-two feet seven inches, and a week ago, without serious competition, will be primed with a mighty effort in hopes of outdistancing the German's mark.

Two men who have pole vaulted better than fourteen feet, will battle it out for the title in this event at high altitudes. This pair consists of Lee Barnes of the U.S.A.C. holder of the world's record at fourteen feet one and one-half inches, and William Graber, Trojan Aeronaut, I.C.A.A. record holder at fourteen feet one-half inch.

Twenty-four track and field events grace the programme, which also includes all the essentials of a carnival with amateur boxing, wrestling, gymnastics, a short night polo game, and a parade.

WILSON WILL MEET EDWARDS

Great Notre Dame Quarter-miller to Run Against Dusky Canadian at Montreal

Montreal, June 19.—Fifty years of outstanding athletic achievement by its members will be culminated Saturday with the opening of a week of competitive and social events celebrating the golden jubilee of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. The club has arranged a programme of sports typifying its wide list of athletic activities.

Outstanding amateur trackmen of Canada and the United States will compete Saturday in the opening ceremony, a track and field meet. A match race between the great Phil Edwards, Canadian Olympic star, and Notre Dame's crack runner, Alex Wilson, holder of the world record for the quarter mile, will see both runners attempting to smother the mark.

Tom Coulter, Carnegie Tech's great hurdler, who hails from Winnipeg, will compete in the hurdling events. Coulter hopes to win the tourney, which will be held in the city of the future in the Olympics next summer.

OUTSIDER TAKES WINNIPEG STAKE

Winnipeg, Man., June 19.—Paula L., an outsider in the betting, came through in a dashing stretch run yesterday, to capture The Free Press racing programme. Quoted at 6½ to 1, the Emmerson Bros' entry won by a length from Little Gyp, with F. A. Jackson announced last night. Entries for this event will close Monday at the clubhouse at 6 p.m.

Miracles of Sport

Jack Dempsey Will Referee Fight At Reno

Reno, Nevada, June 19.—Jack Dempsey, who is promoting the fight, will referee the twenty-round battle here on July 4, between Max Baer and Paulino Uzcudun, according to an announcement by Dempsey yesterday, following a two-hour conference with the two principals and their managers.

Dempsey's consent to act as third man in the ring was not willingly given. Insistent demands of both fighters and their managers and friends finally won him over.

Jack will start intensive training of his own in an effort to get into shape by Independence Day.

Soccer Will Most Likely Pass From Olympic Programme

Chicago, June 19.—Soccer appeared definitely off the 1932 Olympic programme when the United States Football Association yesterday refused to agree to the Olympic ruling that players may not be paid for loss of time.

It was decided to appeal to the International Olympic Committee for a revision of the rule, to permit amateur soccer players to compete under the rules of the International Football Association which permit pay for loss of time.

Officials of the association, which is holding its annual meeting in Chicago, said neither their group, nor the International Football Federation would sponsor in the Olympics unless players were permitted to accept payment for loss of time from work.

Under U.S.F.A. rules, a player may retain amateur status if he accepts money for loss of time.

The Olympic committee in charge of soccer has ruled that players may accept no more than actual traveling expenses and keep.

Al Singer Wins Over Lew Massey

New York, June 19.—Al Singer, king of the lightweights for a few months last year, started on the comeback road yesterday by pouncing out a ten-round decision over Lew Massey of Philadelphia at Madison Square Garden.

Singer, who won the lightweight crown in less than one round from Sammy Mandell last summer, only to lose it in the same length of time a few months later to Tony Canzoneri, was easily the master of the chunky little fighter from the Quaker City.

Singer had a two-pound pull in the weights, entering the ring at 134½, compared with Massey's weight of 127½.

A crowd of 6,395 paid $18,997 to see the two little fellows swap blows. There were no knockdowns.

Kruse Knocks Out Molers But Loses To Mighty Russian

Count Michael Loses Couple of Teeth When Hurled From the Ring at Vancouver by Portland Heavyweight and is Awarded Wrestling Match on Foul; Kruse Cuts Russian to Pieces With Elbow Blows; Jack McLaughlin Pressed to Gain Draw With Young Hackenschmidt

Vancouver, June 19.—A grim, powerful Russian, who goes about the business of wrestling with the relentless persistency of the tide, had his first sample of the tactics of ruthless Robert Kruse, Portland, at the Arena yesterday evening and he came out of it with a victory, but at the expense of two perfectly good teeth and suffering from sundry cuts and bruises about the mouth where the Krusian elbow had smashed with cruel regularity.

Kruse found that his best blow, the blow he had delivered with the mightiest matmen in the game, seemed to have little or no effect on this Russian, and business-like Russian, Count Michael did not register anguish, reel about the ring, or drop to the mat as though mortally wounded, as most of the squirmers do. His expression never changed, and he kept coming in with that relentless determination which appeared to unnerve Kruse and after six minutes of wrestling in the first round the Russian, moving with inexorable deliberation, twined mighty thighs around the slender midsection of the Portlander and decided to concede a fall and spare his ribs.

Kruse kept up a frantic barrage of elbow blows to the face in the second round but always that huge, powerful, grim giant came on and on, chasing him from one corner to the other and more and more freely from lacerated lips, Kruse got in a few headlocks and armlocks in this round, but on the whole these efforts were wasted on the strong Count and only the elbow punches were effective.

In the third round as the pair struggled on the ropes Kruse suddenly heaved the Count over into the aisle. The fall stunned Michael and knocked out two teeth.

Bill Draper gave him three minutes in which to rest because of the obvious foul and when the Russian propped still too groggy at the bell Draper lifted his hand in token of victory as Kruse stormed in fury.

Jack McLaughlin, Vancouver, struck a tartar in Young Hackenschmidt, San Francisco. The Californian had an expert advantage of several pounds and McLaughlin had to resort to every trick in his repertoire to avert defeat.

It ended in a draw, popular Washington Westberg, popular Washington heavy-weight, won a one-fall victory over Al McDonald, California, in the final five-rounder. McDonald, an expert at facial contortions, a point fighter, and a slippery customer and Billy needed all of his excess poundage to pinned McDonald in the fourth round with a double elbow in thirty-seven seconds. Westberg weighed 208 and McDonald 202.

St. Louis Cardinals Getting Breaks to Remain In National Lead

Cardinals Defeated Boston 5 to 4 Yesterday, Although Out-hit Eleven to Five; New York Giants' Triumph Over Pittsburgh to Remain Three Games Behind; Chicago Loses Ground by Splitting Twin Bill With Brooklyn; American League Teams Traveling

Gabby Streets's St. Louis Cardinals have developed an extraordinary faculty for winning ball games with a minimum of effort. Their ability to take advantage of every break, rather than their batting punch, has them three games in front of the National League field to-day.

For example, the league champions collected only five hits off two Boston pitchers yesterday, while their own curving corps was being nicked for eleven, yet they took the Braves into camp, 5 to 4, in opening their latest eastern tour.

After big Ed Brandt had held them helplessly for six innings, they bunched a double with three bases on balls and two Boston errors to score four times in the seventh. Then Chick Hafey came through with a homer in the eighth, and that was the ball game. It marked the fifth straight victory for the Cards since they took a series of lickings from the Braves out west.

The New York Giants, meantime, continued to win behind great pitching, but they couldn't gain an inch on the flying leaders. Carl Hubbell gave them their sixth successive win in the expense of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 1, allowing only six hits and striking out five. But for a pair of infield errors in the first inning the southpaw would have scored a shutout.

CUBS LOSE GROUND

The Chicago Cubs lost ground when they could get no better than an even break in two bouts with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the Phillies' pupils. Hurst, the speedballer, was his old self in the first game as he turned back the Hornsby clan, 7 to 5. He struck out eleven of them, every man in the Chicago lineup succumbing at least once. Pat Malone took charge of things in the nightcap, letting the Robins down with five scattered hits and blanking them, 8 to 0. Hack Wilson belted his seventh homer in the opener and Rogers Hornsby hit number nine in the second.

Don Hurst's big bat and the wisdom of Cincinnati's pitchers were prime factors in the Phillies' 5 to 4 victory over Col. Dan Howley's pupils. Hurst drove in four runs with a homer and single to tie the score. Four successive walks by the Washington Senators showed the winning run across in the ninth.

The day's festivities were confined to the National League's four eastern clubs of the American League traveled west. The Philadelphia Athletics were scheduled to open to-day at Chicago, the Washington Senators at Cleveland, the New Yankees at St. Louis and the Boston Red Sox at Detroit.

Lawn Bowling

The Burnside greens presented a busy scene yesterday evening when cupants, at 8 o'clock, a lawn bowling team attended to enjoy their favorite pastime. No doubt the fact that the weather had prevented play for almost a week made the members more keen to play when the opportunity offered.

BRITISHER WINS TOUGH BIKE GRIND

P. Hunt Drives Motorcycle to Victory in 264-Mile Race on Isle of Man

Two Canadian Riders Forced Out Early; F. Hicks, Great Britain, Is Killed

Canadian Press

Douglas, Isle of Man, June 19.—P. Hunt, Great Britain, won the senior tourist trophy race, classic of motorcycle racing, over the extremely difficult 264-mile course here to-day.

Hunt showed an average speed of 72.4 miles an hour. His time was 3 hours, 23 minutes and 28 seconds. Hunt had also won the junior race last Monday.

Quibrie of Great Britain was second in 3:28.57.

Woods of Great Britain finished third in 3:27.38.

Only fourteen of the fifty-six starters completed the course, which is a mountainous, winding road strewn with pitfalls for the racing motorcyclists.

CANADIANS UNLUCKY

The only two Canadian entrants had had luck. The Montreal "Toros" were forced out at the thirty-third mile when his machine skidded across the road, throwing him for some distance. He suffered facial lacerations.

J. Moodie, Montreal, crashed on the mountain. He found his gear control badly damaged. Moodie was not hurt but could not do anything except trail back to the pits and retire at the end of the first lap.

The race was marred by the death of one of the racers, F. Hicks, Great Britain, a well-known competitor in tourist trophy racing. Hicks crashed at Union Mills and suffered injuries which caused his death in hospital a short time afterward.

WALTER HAGEN OUT IN FRONT

Veteran Pro Scores Brilliant 68 in First Round of Western Open Golf

Miami Valley Club, Dayton, O., June 19.—Walter Hagen found the range of the rolling fairways of the Miami Valley course yesterday and shelled it with a record-smashing sixty-eight that showed a master shot in front of a closely-bunched field in the western open golf championship fight.

Flashing the same form that made him one of golf's immortals a decade ago, the Hag just about made the first eighteen-hole round of the seventy-two-hole struggle a one-man show until Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., came in later with a sixty-nine.

Walter circled the first nine with a thirty-six, one over par; and on his way back he ripped the course apart with a thirty-two.

ONE STROKE BEHIND

Dudley slipped in, with rounds of thirty-five and thirty-four, one of the most consistent of the day, Olin Dutra, the Spanish Caballero from Long Beach, N.C., and Gene Marchi, assistant professional on Miami Valley championship course, Sarazen scored 36-35, while Marchi, one of the darkest of the dark horse contingent, carded 34-37. Six stayed close up in the running with 72's.

One shot away from them and three away from Hagen came Gene Sarazen, of Fresh Meadow, N.Y., the champion they must beat, and Gene Marchi, assistant professional on Miami Valley championship course, Sarazen scored 36-35, while Marchi, one of the darkest of the dark horse contingent, carded 34-37. Six stayed close up in the running with 72's.

The games committee of the club will meet this evening to arrange for the "longest day" game of thirty-one ends, which will take place to-morrow evening, commencing at 7 o'clock. As this is open to all lawn bowlers in Greater Victoria, men and women, a large crowd is anticipated.

Bobby Jones To Test Products

New York, June 19.—Bobby Jones, who announced his retirement from competitive golf following the winning of the four major titles of 1930, yesterday became a member of the firm of A. G. Spalding & Brothers, Inc. in making the announcement, Julian W. Curtis, president of the company, said Jones had purchased a block of stock and would be directly associated with the research laboratories at Chicago, Mass. His job will consist of working on designs for clubs and testing out products on courses throughout the country.

Jones stated his new position did not in any way affect his retirement from competitive golf, but simply afforded him an opportunity to exercise and apply such knowledge as he may have acquired from fifteen years of tournament experience.

OUTSIDERS IN GREAT FORM AT COLWOOD TRACK

Capture All Seven Races and Return Fair Purses; The Falconer Pays Best

Daily Double Worth $85.20 For $1; See, Leading Jockey For Second Straight Day

Outsiders and second choices enjoyed a big day at the Colwood track yesterday. With the track in a heavy condition, the favorites found the going tough, and not one of them got down in front in the seven events. No sensational prices were seen. The Falconer, winner of the third race, returning 18.70 for the longest price of the afternoon.

Those fans who were lucky enough to click on the daily double, got back the handsome return of $85.20 for a $1 wager. The Falconer and Queen of Prosper formed the winning combination.

See was the leading jockey for the second successive day, piloting home two winners, James, Carter, Hughes, Marshall and Black were up on the other winners.

The track is getting into fine shape after the heavy rainfall. Yesterday's sunbaked dried it out considerably, and by to-morrow it should be in first-class condition.

After being left at the post Mrs. L. Seifried's Minors Dodge with James up carried off first money in the opening canter over five and a half furlongs. Oregon Co-Ed finished second and Dick Smith third. After unseating her jockey three times at the barrier, the winner came through on the rail going into the stretch and won handily. Dick Smith, who was an entry with Oregon Co-Ed, set the lead in the race, but was unable to catch the place horse. Lady Aggie paid off at $6.50 to win.

Inter-city Match Cricket Feature For Dominion Day

Victoria Team, Which Will Meet Vancouver, is Particularly Strong in Bowlers and Batsmen, Line-up Reveals; B.C. Representative Eleven for Inter-provincial Tournament to be Named on July 1 and University School Will Open Tour of British Columbia in Vancouver Same Day

In the annals of British Columbia cricket July 1 will go down as a gala day. On that date Victoria will play its first inter-city match with Vancouver, the selection committee appointed by the B.C. governors will name the team to represent the province in the inter-provincial cricket tournament and the University School will open its tour of the interior with a match against the Vancouver juniors on the mainland.

Represented by one of the strongest elevens that has carried the city's colors for many years, Victoria should have an excellent chance against the Vancouver all-stars at the University School grounds. Both in bowlers and batsmen the Capitals will be particularly strong.

The team, as announced to-day, follows: H. A. Goward, captain; Reg. Wenman, vice-captain; F. A. Sparks, G. Peberdy, G. Wilkinson, Eric Quinlan, H. A. Rhodes, "Buster" Phillips, A. J. Darcus, H. H. Allen and J. F. Merridith. Reserves: Ball, Allwood and Hincks.

Wenman is known as one of the strongest batsmen and best bowlers in the province. Sparks and Darcus are two other men who are outstanding in the same departments. Wilkinson, Rhodes and Phillips are skilful exponents of the delivery, and Peberdy, Quinlan, Allen and Merridith have been outstanding with their bats this season.

Last year the Victorians won and lost one fixture to the mainlanders, but hope to start this season with a victory. The fixture will be an all-day match, starting at 10.30 o'clock.

UNIVERSITY TOUR
While the rival teams are contesting senior honors here, University School's crack eleven will open its tour of the province with a match against the Vancouver juniors on the mainland.

The Mount Tomin boys have been showing good form against many of the senior teams of the city, and should have considerable success on their trip, which will take them through British Columbia, and possibly part of Alberta. Reg. Wenman, who will be in charge of the students, will leave the city immediately after attending the meeting of the B.C. "rep" team selection committee, and catch up with them on the mainland.

At a recent meeting of the B.C.C.A. board of governors, P. A. Sparks, Tommy Reed, Percy Broadfoot, Reg. Wenman and Hubert Lethaby were appointed to the selection committee to choose the team to represent British Columbia in the inter-provincial tournament at the University School grounds from August 3 to 8.

They will meet on the evening of July 1 to announce their choice of the B.C. team and to invite the men to take part in the tournament.

With these fixtures included in the day, July will undoubtedly prove one of the outstanding dates on the cricket calendar.

Jacobs Protests Latest Foul Rule For Title Battle

Cleveland, June 19.—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, informed the Cleveland Boxing Commission late yesterday that he would consult an attorney before notifying the board whether he would allow Schmeling to enter the ring here, July 4, for his scheduled title defense against William L. (Young) Stribling under rules adopted yesterday.

Jacobs intimated he would be hesitant to send Schmeling to the wars unless the commission revised a clause in the rules refusing compensation to a fighter who refuses to continue after claiming to be fouled.

The commissioners said they would stand on their rules, declaring they don't want a repetition of the unsatisfactory ending to the Schmeling-Jack Sharkey fight last year.

Polo Fixture Is Again Postponed

Vancouver, June 19.—Rains of Tuesday and Wednesday have caused further postponement of the polo match between Vancouver and Kamloops for the British Columbia Polo Challenge Cup and the provincial title. First scheduled for Wednesday, the game was set back till to-day. Thursday morning, officials of the Vancouver Polo Club decided that the grounds at Brighouse Park would be too damp for sale play on Friday, and the match has been postponed once again until Saturday afternoon.

A few changes have been made in the placing of the teams for Saturday's game. Vancouver will line up with Clarry Wallace at one, Colonel Reggie Chaplin at two, J. Audaine or C. H. Wills at three, and Eric Hamber at back.

Tommy Wilmot has been shifted from two position to back on the Kamloops line-up. The Interior riders will now start with Frank Ward at one, M. Talbot at two, K. Laing at three, and Wilmot at back.

Major S. C. "Bimbo" Sweeney will act as referee.

Britisher Charges B.C. Lumber Trade With Price-lifting

Vancouver, June 19.—The suggestion made in Montreal by G. H. G. Williamson, of London, England, that British Columbia lumber exporters had raised their prices a year ago, or at any time, to take advantage of a preference for their products in the United States, was declared unjustified by Loren H. Brown, recently appointed lumber commissioner for British Columbia to London.

"The fact that Mr. Williamson mentions spruce indicates that he is hardly talking by the book, because to my knowledge spruce has never been applied for any government or municipal contract in Great Britain," Mr. Brown said.

Montreal, June 19.—British Columbia lumber merchants had taken advantage of the British efforts to improve trade with Canada by raising their prices after British government and civil authorities had specified Canadian lumber should be used in certain large contracts, according to G. H. G. Williamson, of London, Eng., and San Francisco, Cal., who was in Montreal.

"This was about a year or so ago," he said, "and while the situation has remedied itself to a large extent now, yet at the time it was a serious reflection upon the Canadian lumber exporters."

"They had been assured contracts through the hard work of the Canadian trade commissioners in England, where both the government and various port authorities tried to throw business their way by specifying that Canadian lumber should be used."

"Promptly British Columbia spruce rose in price $1, and even $2, a thousand feet over the price of Puget Sound spruce, which is exactly the same."

Mr. Williamson represents a British export and import house in San Francisco, and much of his business has been in the disposal of Canadian lumber, salmon and grain in various markets of the world, though chiefly that of the home country.

SHOTS FOLLOWED FIGHT IN DARK

E. Kruse Tells Court How He Received Bullet Wound in the Side

Claiming he was hit by one out of three shots fired, Ernest Kruse, chief complaining witness in a charge against Dominic Pallantier of shooting with intent to maim, yesterday afternoon in Saanich police court testified how events which followed his visit to the Pallantier home on Roderic Street led up to the shooting.

The preliminary hearing was adjourned one week after most of the evidence had been taken. H. A. Maclean, K.C., appeared for the defence and E. L. Tait for the prosecution. The incident occurred on the night of June 12, when Kruse, accompanied by Charles Bright and Sarah Lumley, went to the Pallantier home, he testified, Pallantier admitted to the home, but when they asked for a drink he said he had none ready and an argument and fight followed. The witness said Pallantier went for a gun and the three ran out of the house. Two shots were fired with no effect.

HIT WHILE STRUGGLING
Kruse said he heard talking at his car nearby, and when he went over there saw a man, who he thought was "young Campbell," engaged him in a fight, and while they were struggling on the ground another shot was fired, hitting him in the side.

Kruse said he had been to a beer parlor before the visit to Pallantier's home. Pallantier, he said, was clothed in his night attire when he let them in the house.

Dr. A. D. Bechtel described Kruse's wound as about an inch long, half an inch wide and one-eighth of an inch deep.

ONE SHOT FIRED
Kruse's story was corroborated by Sarah Lumley, Mrs. Mary Lewis said she had gone with Mr. George Rogers, 904 Cloverdale Avenue, to visit Pallantier on the night in question, and when they were talking at the house to some someone had attacked Mr. Rogers from behind. In the ensuing struggle a shot was fired, but she did not know who fired it. Mrs. Rogers testified to similar effect.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Bringing a new film "find" to the speaking screen in Marion Lessing, who plays the role of the German secret service heroine, "The Seas Beneath," a Fox Movietone, opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday. A stirring story of the war against the U-boats, the picture deftly interweaves a unique romance together with its vivid presentation of life on and under the waves, and the result is one of the finest offerings that has ever been shown here.

Using a big schooner and two American submarines, one masquerading as a German vessel, as the background against which much of the action takes place, Director John Ford has made "The Seas Beneath" a notable achievement.

DOMINION THEATRE

Joel McCrea is a boy who has made good in his home town. Hollywood happens to be McCrea's home town and motion picture acting is his chosen work. Just how fine an impression he actually has made is demonstrated by his selection as Constance Bennett's leading man in her new Pathé starring picture, "Born to Love," showing at the Dominion Theatre.

Although he was born in South Pasadena, a community adjoining the film capital, and later attended Hollywood High School, McCrea cherished no early ambitions for a screen career. There was no distance to lend enchantment to the films and he knew the studios were harder to get into than a miser's purse.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"You could almost see the scene before your eyes. There we sat," said Charlie Chaplin, "a clown and a scientist, watching the picture, sometimes laughing, sometimes sighing."

He was describing the world premiere of "City Lights," which is showing today at the Columbia, which he attended with Dr. Albert Einstein, proponent of the Einstein theory of relativity. Through the milling crowds outside the theatre walked the comedian and his distinguished guest, all the time engaged in an animated conversation that was a combination of meager German and English. While the picture was being unrolled, both would laugh, the scientist would occasionally wipe the tears of laughter from his eyes.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Laughs in a beauty parlor keep the audience at the Playhouse Theatre in a constant giggling state when Marie Dressler and Polly Moran are seen in their new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, "Reducing." This funny production was directed admirably by Charles "Chuck" Reisner, who directed the pair in their engaging talking picture lampoon on the bulls and bears of Wall Street, "Caught Short." A convincing love story underlies the laughs and gives solid substance to the story. The protagonists are those four clever youngsters, Anita Page, William Collier Jr., Sally Eilers and William Bakewell. Littlefield gives an especially fine characterization as the mail-carrier husband of the buxom Marie.

Entertainers To Be Competitors In Walkathon

Promoters of the walkathon-marathon, to be held at the Playhouse, state it is primarily an endurance contest in which the contestants walk 45 minutes and rest 15 minutes in each hour. The walkathon-marathon will continue 24 hours a day and will be open to the public at all hours of the day or night, except Sunday.

Aside from the contest itself there will be practically a continuous programme of amusement, such as singing and dancing novelties, music and vaudeville features. In the walkathon-marathon, which will open at the Playhouse Theatre next Monday, both entertainers and contestants will consist of local artists and athletes and the features already booked promise a show of unusual interest.

In cities where walkathon-marathon contests are being staged, walkathon parties are the latest idea. House parties go in a body for the novelty of attending a midnight show that is both novel and entertaining.

COMING TO COLISEUM

Patrick McGill, whilst on a holiday in Switzerland, saw that the demand for war plays still existed, so on his return he wrote "Suspense." Coming next week to the Coliseum Theatre. This has now been brought to the screen by British International Pictures Limited, and shows the war from the point of view of the private soldier, and is in no way another "Journey's End." It has a cast of nine, and only one character is that of an officer. Most of the action passes, not in a dug-out, but in a captured German trench. It has humor and plenty of strong drama, and much of it deals with Patrick McGill's own war adventures. McGill knows what it is to sit waiting for a mine to explode beneath him. He waited several hours for this to happen once, but luckily for him, the mine failed to work after all.

BIG GOLD BRICK

Vancouver, June 19.—A gold brick valued at $19,000, representing one week's run, arrived here to-day from Pioneer Gold Mine, Bridge River.

According to A. E. Bull, secretary-treasurer of the company, production from the mine so far this month is averaging $3,000 a day against a daily average of $1,500 during May.

Dr. F. J. Nicholson, director, returned from the property to-day and reported that development work is making satisfactory progress. The mill is running to full capacity of 100 tons daily. Drifting in eighth size has revealed rich ore averaging $80 to the ton across the width of the vein.

No coloring or artwork of any kind shall have been done on either negative or print. Prints shall be neither mounted nor framed. Do not write even your name on either front or back of pictures submitted.
- 6 Enclose an entry blank with each lot of pictures. Mail entries to Prize Contest Office, Canadian Kodak Co., Limited, Toronto 9, Ontario. Use the entry blank in last column, obtain others from your dealer, copy the form, or write to the Prize Contest Office for a supply.
- 7 No entries can be returned. All mailings are at owner's risk. Do not send negatives with entries, but be sure they are in your possession and hold them ready to send on request.
- 8 All pictures will be judged solely on general appeal—the interest they arouse. Photographic excellence or technique will not be the deciding factor in determining the prize winners.
- 9 The decision of the judges shall be final. In event of a tie, the advertised award shall be paid to each of the tying contestants.
- 10 Each prize-winning picture, together with the negative and the first and sole rights to the use thereof, for advertising, publication or exhibition in any manner, becomes the property of the Kodak Company.
- 11 Winner of first prize in each class, including winner of the Grand Prize, will automatically enter the International Competition.
- 12 Although no entrant may win prizes on more than one picture, he may win several prizes with the one picture. Naturally, the more pictures sent in, the greater the chance that one of them will win a prize—or prizes.

*Comprises Canada, Newfoundland, Saint-Pierre and Miquelon.

Conditions 13 and 14 which follow, apply to the offer of special provincial prizes for the best child pictures made and entered in May and June, 1931. (See prizes above.)

14 Special Child Picture Contest closes on June 30, 1931. Entries must be mailed under postmark not later than that day and must reach Prize Contest Office not later than July 7, 1931. All entries in Child Picture Contest, including winners, and all child pictures entered in July and August are eligible for prizes in Class A at the end of the general contest.

Important! The entrant need not specify the classes into which his pictures should go. The Prize Contest Office will place each picture in the class in which it is most likely to win. No explanatory letter is necessary.

Winners will be notified as soon as possible after the judging takes place. In order that judges shall not know the name of the maker of any picture, entries will be filed numerically.

Each entrant will be acknowledged by a postal card bearing the number given thereto. However, please do not interpret this as an invitation to write about entries as the Prize Contest Office cannot undertake correspondence.

The Kodak Company may offer to purchase pictures that do not win prizes.

DAILY HEALTH SERVICE

Rising Cost Of Medical Care
Due To Progress Of Science

High Price of Education and Apparatus Is Laid to Greater Knowledge of Disease

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

The progress of scientific medicine is no doubt chiefly responsible for the increase in the cost of medical education, the increase in the cost of medical care, the rise of specialization, and the tremendous development of hospitals.

Modern medical education requires at least eight years of a young man's life at an annual expense of $1,900 a year. Modern scientific diagnosis in a difficult case demands the use of a tremendous amount of scientific apparatus and the application of the highest medical talent. In the hospital, such apparatus is made generally available; in the hospital, also, the services of many physicians in various specialties are easily accessible to the patient.

Hospitals have increased from approximately 1,000 in 1900 to 5,000 in 1910, and to 6,719 in 1930. There are to-day almost 1,000,000 beds available in hospitals, and at least two-thirds of all of the physicians licensed to practice in the United States are associated with the hospitals in some manner. Of the 98,491 physicians now associated with hospitals, 45,000, or almost fifty per cent, are specialists, contrasted with some fifteen per cent of specialists in 1908.

Another factor has been the development of technical assistants in medical care, including dietitians, physical therapy technicians, X-ray technicians, nurses, orderlies and social service workers, so that to-day, in addition to the 155,000 physicians licensed to practice medicine in the United States, there are at least 2,000,000 additional workers who devote practically all of their time to the care of the sick. Since labor cost is one of the highest costs in any service, these facts must be considered in connection with the cost of medical care.

The development of university practice, group practice, medical centres, contract practice, industrial practice and similar changes in the nature of medical practice has been the response to an attempt to decrease the cost of medical care by lowering the cost of the overhead through better distribution.

In every scheme that has been developed the chief fault is the lessening of personal relationship between the physician and the patient. It is human nature for the worker to feel his responsibility to the source of his income. It is human nature for the physician to feel that the patient is primarily to the patient. Any plan that lessens the responsibility of

Two Table Matches and One Friendly Fixture Scheduled For To-morrow

With two "table" matches on the schedule as well as one friendly fixture, cricket enthusiasts of Victoria are promised a good programme to-morrow. In what should prove a particularly close battle, the Five C's will clash with Victoria at Beacon Hill, while the Innings meet the Albions at the University School in the other scheduled fixture.

University School will play the Wanderers in a friendly match at Work Point. The result of the Five C's-Victoria match is open to debate, but it is expected the Innings will take the Albions into camp.

Yoshi Surprises By Clean Victory Over Veteran Muir

Vancouver, June 19.—City tennis championships swung into full stride for the first time this week yesterday, with clear weather favoring the players. Not many of the first string players got into action, but there were some good matches on the programme at the Point Grey Club.

Feature of the play was the defeat of Jack Muir of the Vancouver Club by George Yoshi, sensational young Japanese. Yoshi won from the Vancouver star in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4. Herold McLean got into the next round by winning from Southern, 6-2, 6-3. Phyllis White, city girls' junior champion, won two matches in the women's singles, defeating Miss Fraser, 6-1, 6-0, and winning from Mrs. Muir, 6-1, 6-0.

Earl Mastro Wins Over Mike O'Dowd

Chicago, June 19.—Earl Mastro, Chicago's contender for the world's featherweight championship, defeated the veteran midget, Mike O'Dowd, of Columbus, Ohio, in a one-sided ten-round bout in Miles Stadium yesterday evening. Mastro weighed 128 3/4 pounds, with O'Dowd scaling 127 3/4.

With Art Chapman, Cagor Finmore and Paul Brooker added to their list of track and field athletes, Victoria Y.M.C.A. will seek to turn the tables on the Navy at the High School tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. In their first meeting at the Gantzen grounds the Navy boys outmaneuvered the association boys to take the meet by a margin of five points.

Y.M.C.A. entries for the different events follow: 100 yards junior—L. McGregor, K. Fleming and Ben Vesey. 220 yards junior—A. McGregor and W. Thompson. Half-mile relay—A. and L. McGregor, Ben Vesey and Ken Fleming. Mile relay—M. Patrick, E. Winslow and W. Naysmith. 100 yards senior—J. Addison, B. Croft and J. Petch. 220 yards senior—L. Patrick, C. Dixon, S. Williams and W. Motor Transportation Soon Will Be Regulated

Dr. Manion Predicts

Ottawa, June 19.—"I believe that in this country, as well as in others, some form of regulation for this competition will have to come," said Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, referring to motor bus competition with railways in the course of the budget debate in the Commons yesterday afternoon.

NEW RULES FOR LOAN COMPANIES

Ottawa, June 19.—The Department of Finance may find it advisable to draft a standard bill to be followed by persons wishing to incorporate loan companies organized to make small loans to people who can not provide the necessary security to obtain the advances from the banks. The suggestion was made during a meeting of the banking and commerce committee of the Senate yesterday when it was examining a bill to incorporate the Morris Finance Corporation. The bill, which comes from Toronto, Toledo, June 19.—The Security Trust Company, with resources of more than $35,000,000, was taken over by the superintendent of banks when it failed to open its doors this morning. Heavy withdrawals had been made during the last week and a small run took place Tuesday. It was the third largest bank in Toledo.

Railroad Incomes Off From Year Ago

New York, June 19.—April net operating income of 170 class 1 railroads was $39,074,313, compared with $62,812,345 in April, 1930. Total for four months stands at $146,196,779, compared with $238,805,094 in the corresponding four months of last year.

GREAT NORTHERN CUTS RATE
Great Northern Railway has declared a dividend of $1.50 on the preferred stock, payable August 1, on stock of record June 30. The company announced the action should be construed as placing the stock on a 44 annual basis, as the $2.50 semi-annual dividend already has been paid in 1931.

AUSTRALIA HAS FAIRY GODFATHER

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's Canberra, June 19.—There is much curiosity in the commonwealth capital concerning the identity of Australia's "fairy godfather," who recently, when the crisis was at its height, offered a loan of $75,000,000 in gold. Premier Scullin merely told questioners in Parliament to-day that certain representations had been made to him, "but as far as we have been unable to discover the principals."

HIGH EXCHANGE AFFECTS TRAVEL

Australians Staying at Home Rather Than Pay High Increase, Says Father Cleary Believes That Scullin Government Will Survive Its Full Term of Office.

Exchange has risen to such an extent in Australia that it is seriously affecting travel, according to Father V. F. Cleary, of St. Stephen's Cathedral, Brisbane, Queensland, who reached Victoria yesterday by the liner Monowal.

This situation is due to the abnormal conditions prevailing in the Commonwealth.

Instead of paying four shillings and five pence on the dollar, the traveler is now paying five shillings and six pence, an increase of approximately thirty per cent, Father Cleary said.

The Monowal carried a full list between Sydney and Auckland, and more than half of the 282 passengers arriving here boarded the ship at Honolulu, he said.

"The people of the south are not keen to travel long distances with the exchange situation so unsatisfactory," Father Cleary observed. "It makes a big difference in the price of an ocean steamship passage."

Father Cleary is on his way from the Archbishop's House in Queensland to the Catholic College in Washington, D.C., where he will study philosophy for the next two years.

He displayed considerable knowledge of the political situation in Australia and expressed the view that Premier Scullin's labor government would weather through and run its full term of office, all predictions of an early Commonwealth election to the contrary.

The Australian debt will be founded, and Australian workers will work for less wages as a result of the recent conference of state premiers with the Federal chief at Canberra, he said.

SUPREME COURT SITS TUESDAY AT NANAIMO

Nanaimo, June 19.—When a special sitting of the Supreme Court opens here on Tuesday there will be four cases to be heard, two of which originate on the West Coast, and in both damages are asked by plaintiff. William R. B. Brown is suing Archibald Fleming, an alderman in Alberni, for damages as the result of an automobile accident in Port Alberni on September 18, 1930, when a car driven by Mr. Fleming's daughter is alleged to have caused injuries to plaintiff, T. P. Morton is appearing for the plaintiff, and F. C. Cunliffe is appearing for the defendant.

The other case for damages is that in which Major Richard J. Burde is suing the mayor of Port Alberni, John A. Kendall, for damages for alleged slander. A McNeil is appearing for the plaintiff and F. C. Cunliffe for the defendant.

Ward vs. Ward is a case in which plaintiff asks for a statement under the Married Women's clause, concerning property. Also a request for a legal separation is being made.

The fourth case is one of divorce, Baker vs. Baker.

There will be a float on which several dancers, the district for several decades, will be featured.

RACE PROBLEM IS DISCUSSED

Students at Bowen Island Hear Canadian-Japanese Viewpoint

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 19.—The meeting of civilizations is going on in the homes of the Japanese of Vancouver, said Rev. K. Shimizu of Vancouver to students gathered at Bowen Island for the study of inter-racial problems of the Pacific Ocean area. He spoke on "The Problem of the Second Generation Japanese on the Pacific Coast of North America."

"They are born and educated in Canada and their mode of mind and philosophy of life are Canadian," the speaker stated. "Even in religion they are Canadian, for a recent study has shown that of the Japanese children in Vancouver schools, sixty-five per cent attend Christian Sunday schools though their parents are Buddhists. The Canadian Japanese are losing their self-respect because society has no place for them."

A general discussion followed in which the suggestion of an Oriental "back-to-the-homeland movement" was discarded. The alternative to this, it was felt, involved inter-racial marriage.

Dr. Hugh Dobson of Vancouver stated that although history revealed many successful mixtures of races, he would be offended by the entrance of an Oriental into his family.

Mr. Kiang Kang-hu, a non-Christian, stated it should be the Christian obligation to lead the way in inter-racial marriage.

The teaching of Karl Marx was gripping the students of Japan, declared I. O. Oki, Japanese novelist, and for every student professing Christianity there were thirty interested in Marxism. There was no fear of a revolution in Japan, he declared, for the people had absorbed radical ideas in the past without any great difficulty.

LORD DUNCANNON HERE TO-MORROW

Viscount Duncannon, eighteen-year-old son of the Earl and Countess of Bessborough, who is making his first tour of the Dominion since the appointment of his father as Governor-General, will arrive in Victoria to-morrow afternoon on the steamer Princess Margaret from Vancouver accompanied by his cousin, Hon. Arthur Ponsonby and Major W. Boland. He will be greeted on his arrival by Chief Justice Macdonald, the Administrator for the province.

The party will proceed from the boat to the Empress Hotel, where the vice-regal suite has been prepared for the visit.

Several notable social functions have been arranged in honor of the Viscount's first visit here.

At midnight on Sunday the party will board the steamer Princess Margaret at the Belleville Street docks and proceed up the West Coast of Vancouver Island as far as Port Alice, Qualicum Sound.

On the return trip they will land at Port Alberni, and cross the island to Qualicum Beach, where they will spend a few days before returning to Victoria. On July 2 the Viscount will return to Vancouver, and will go east by way of the Kettle Valley Railway and the Crow's Nest Pass.

On the way out from Ottawa Viscount Duncannon spent several enjoyable days at Banff and Lake Louise.

Finds People Moving From City to Suburb

New York, June 19.—On the basis of reports from suburban real estate operators, it appears that the flow of population from the large centres into the rural district, as reported by the government census bureau, is being duplicated by the movement of home seekers from large metropolitan centres into the surrounding suburban districts, according to Leon Walosoff, president of Walosoff Bros., builders of the 150-home Freepoint Lantz project at Freeport, L.I.

"Property within commuting distance of New York is being rapidly developed and moderate-priced homes are finding ready buyers among the white collar wage earners who formerly lived in the city," he says.

"This movement indicates not only a desire for a modern home at a price within reach, but a complete change in the average wage earner's attitude toward life as a whole."

"The things he once considered advantages of city life, he now calls disadvantages. In the development of suburban towns he has come to see a perfect environment for himself and his family," Walosoff continues.

"A decade ago the average wage earner scoffed at the idea of living in the suburbs. Now New York is close to his work and close to his play. Everything centred in the 'big town.' Furthermore, there were few houses in the suburbs that he could afford to buy."

"Lately we have sensed a change. The average man of to-day is willing, even eager, to assume responsibility for his own doing he can make better provision for the future. He feels the urge to be an individual, not one of a herd."

Causeway Station With Tower and Beacon Brightens Up Waterfront

Will Give Full Range of Service to Car Owners; Large Storage Space

Featured by the seventy-foot tower with beacon light at the top, the new Imperial Oil service station at the corner of Wharf and Government Streets, adjacent to the causeway, is a welcome addition to the Victoria waterfront. The structure has recently been completed and is now ready for service under Roy Troup, the lessee. Owing to the unusual design, the new station is outstanding among the many service quarters for automobiles which this city supports. The beacon on the tower is the main attraction and is expected to be a significant factor when night flying comes into vogue here. Eight huge floodlights illuminate the upper section of the tower with the beacon light above them. Forty decorative lights around the lower structure add to the display in the evening.

CHARTS GAIN IN VALUE AS STOCK TREND GUIDES

New York, June 19.—Wall Street, tried and tested by the opinions, beliefs and observations of prominent bankers, economists, politicians and prognosticators of every variety, all of which have seemed futile and unsatisfactory in solving the riddle of depression and the stock market, has turned to the chartist for advice.

Arguments, pro and con, have been waged for many years regarding the value of the chart in determining general trend, as well as trend of individual securities.

Jacques Cohen, member of the Stock Exchange firm of Baer, Cohen and Company, and long regarded as the principal proponent of the chart, declared that never before in the history of speculation or investment has the chart been a more valuable asset for the trader or student of price movements.

What Mr. Cohen believes about charts, what has learned from them and what he thinks others can learn from them is set forth in the following interview:

"Most people have the erroneous idea that charts are something akin to fortune telling and that they can tell you through certain mysterious formulas precisely where a stock is going," began Mr. Cohen, "it is because of this mistaken theory that people who do not understand the real meaning of charts scoff at them. Charts are really valuable in so far as they describe to you in black and white the direction in which a stock is going."

"If people would stop to consider that a chart is simply setting forth on paper the high, low and close of a stock every day for many days, for many weeks, together with the volume or, in other words, is simply a picture of what has gone before, then they would realize that there is nothing mysterious about it. We know that what people think of a stock, including so-called insiders, the bankers, the traders and the public, is all reflected in the buying and selling on the Stock Exchange, and is so printed on the ticker tape, from which the chart is made up. If a stock begins to slide down without any news to account for the weakness, and keeping a chart on this stock we see this unmistakable and clearly-defined downward trend we are warned that something is not right with that company."

"Very often certain stocks will be weak while the general market is strong, but under the smoke screen of the general strength in the market we lose sight of the weakness of that one particular stock. However, its chart indicates a danger signal of no small importance, even though it may be weeks or months before the actual news is published. Conversely, some stocks may show persistent strength during a generally weak market, but if we do not have charts to watch these things, we would not notice the outstanding strength."

UP AND DOWN SWINGS
"I would like to make one thing particularly clear. Charts do not tell you how high a stock is going or how low it is going. They simply give you direction. I have found charts invaluable in my business, which is largely advice to clients as to what to buy and what to sell and when to protect themselves."

"We all know, and many of us to our regret, that the greatest element of danger in successful stock speculation is the inability of people to take small losses. I claim that application to charts as to when to take losses has saved my clients untold thousands and hundreds of thousands of dollars. I cannot be too emphatic in stressing the value of charts in this particular respect. We all know that the element of risk in stock market speculation is very great. Never in the history of Wall Street has it been proven more accurately than during the past two years.

"We have been in a long-drawn-out bear market since the fall of 1929, and yet during that period we have had three intermediate upwings. Each one of those upwings presented every earmark of being genuine and a reversal of the downtrend. Yet every time these upwings were broken, stocks went lower than before."

"I have confined myself principally to a discussion of charts on the daily and weekly fluctuations of security prices, but in our office 'chart laboratory' we keep charts on a great many other important things related to the stock market as a whole. For instance, in the fall of 1929, our master chart showed an unmistakable danger sign. Within a brief period of thirty days, brokers' loans jumped from $6,254,000,000 to $10,000,000,000. By the same time these upwings were broken, stocks went lower than before."

"If that was not a definite indication of distribution on a large scale, nothing was. Since that time, both prices and brokers' loans have gone down, until on June 3, 1931, stocks are lower on the average than at any time since 1924, while brokers' loans are down to only $1,600,000,000. By the same process of reasoning that we discovered wholesale distribution, we will be able to discern accumulation."

"We will find that it is as and when we enter the accumulation stage of a bull market, stocks will go up much faster than brokers' loans, or putting it the other way around, stocks may go up slowly, but brokers' loans will either stay stationary or decline slightly. When that period arrives, we should recognize it as the buying by people who have a clearer insight into the future of business than the rank and file speculator."

"Ten years ago, when I first started keeping charts in a big way, I doubt whether there were a dozen people in the Street who took the trouble to keep charts either in stocks, commodities, or in the Dow Jones average. Today, we find very few brokerage offices that do not keep charts of at least the Dow Jones average. Most of the morning and evening newspapers carry charts so that the public may follow the trend."

"I might say that within the past ten years we have become more chart-minded than ever before. Business executives in mercantile and manufacturing lines keep charts on production, sales, operating expense, advertising, etc. The only reason they keep charts is to show trend. So, in defence of charts, so far as stock market prices are concerned, I say that without charts, unless one has an extraordinary memory, one cannot possibly keep track of what is going on."

Standard Statistics Also Turns Bullish

San Francisco, July 18.—Definite recommendation to purchase high grade common stocks is made by Standard Statistics Company Inc., according to information received by S. W. Straus and Company. A list of thirty-one conservative and seven semi-speculative stocks is included in the recommendation.

These stocks, mutually agreed upon, are Southern Pacific, American Telephone, United Gas Improvement, North American Company, Pacific Gas and Electric, Consolidated Gas of New York, Allied Chemical, American Can, American Tobacco, Borden, General Electric, Liggett and Myers and Union Carbide.

The oils and steels have been completely ignored in the recommendations. The list contains four railroad stocks, including Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, New Haven and Norfolk and Western.

Among the conservative group, other than those mentioned above, are the following: Air Reduction, American Gas, Continental Can, Corn Products, Penick and Ford, International Business Machines, Southern Pacific, Drug, Diamond Match, First National, General Motors, Hershey, Public Service of New Jersey and Reynolds Tobacco.

The seven semi-speculative stocks listed were Borg Warner, Niagara Hudson Power, Gillette, Electric Bond and Share, Kroger, Standard Brands and United Fruit.

S. W. Straus and Company pointed out two weeks ago, the approximate date the market hit the bottom, that past history shows that the turn in the market occurred when pessimism was most rampant.

OTTAWA WOBBLES FOUR TIMES ON DUTIES FOR COAL

Bennett's Latest Change Cancels Fixed Values on Bituminous

Ottawa, June 19.—The Canada Gazette reveals the latest tariff wobble. This time it is the duty on coal which is changed. A brief search through the files shows that four changes in coal duty have taken place in the past four months, and that four different rates have been in force at different times within that period.

The latest change is the cancellation of the values fixed on bituminous coal by orders-in-council published March 14, and April 11.

The record of the past three months is as follows: Prior to March 14, bituminous coal duty, 50 cents a ton; anthracite coal, no duty; no dump duty or value for coal on either.

On March 14, in response to the demands by the coal operators in the west, the government published in The Gazette the following values for duty on bituminous coal: Slack, $1.00; run of mine, $1.25.

The effect was to add from 5 to 30 cents a ton dump duty on the bulk of the bituminous coal entering Canada. Immediately the coal dealers of the central region registered their protest, claiming that they were being required to absorb the duty and that it was impossible to divert orders to Canadian mines.

One month later the government had been persuaded of the soundness of their plea and had revised the original order so as to allow the dealers 15 cents a ton on slack and 25 cents on run of mine off the above value.

The satisfied dealers, but no sooner had it been published in The Canada Gazette of April 11 than the coal operators of the west protested that its effect was to nullify completely what little protection there was in the original order.

On June 1 a new scale of duties on coal came into effect. Bituminous coal duties were raised from 50 to 75 cents; anthracite was made dutiable to the tune of 40 cents a ton. The effect of that was to make coal imports subject to two duties, the import duty and the dump duty on fixed values.

The latest adjustment, as published in The Canada Gazette, is to abolish the value for duty purposes of bituminous coal as proclaimed in the order-in-council of March 12.

Chain Stores
Face New Tax

Chicago, June 19.—The Illinois Senate is expected to take a final vote today on the Pintozzi chain store tax bill. The bill was advanced to third reading yesterday.

The senate has amended the bill to limit its application to grocery, meat, drug and tobacco chains only and to reduce the license fee for each unit over three from $1,000 to $500. In addition, the effective date was made July 1, 1932, instead of October 1, 1931.

Opponents of the bill express the opinion that it constitutes special class legislation and even if the Illinois senate would be held unconstitutional by the courts.

A Million Fat Folks Can't Be Wrong

And that's a low estimate of the number taking Kruschen to keep down superfluous fat.

When you take vitalizing Kruschen salts for a few days that old indolent armchair feeling deserts you—it doesn't matter how fat you are—the urge for activity has got you—and you're "stepping lively."

And best of all you like this activity—you walk a couple of miles and enjoy it—you thought you'd never dance again, but you find you're getting as spry as ever—the old tingling, active feeling reaches even your feet.

Kruschen is a combination of the six salts Nature has already put into your body to keep you alive—if it were not for these vital salts you could not live.

One bottle is enough to prove to you that Kruschen will make you feel younger—spry—more energetic—you'll enjoy life every minute of it.

A half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning is all you need to keep healthy—keep your stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys in splendid condition—free your system from harmful toxins and acids.

Chicago Optimistic As Orders From Retailers Increase

Chicago, June 19.—Optimism is replacing pessimism in the outside trade and there is less pessimism among local trade leaders, according to Bradstreet's weekly review of Chicago trade. Merchants from other points are ordering more cheerful views and are ordering well from wholesalers and jobbers, whose sales in volume are equal to 1930, and in some lines ahead, although in dollars they are two per cent. to five per cent. behind. Buying by retailers in Chicago and suburbs is limited, as retail sales are not showing the same improvement as those of wholesalers.

SOUTH AMERICA BOND NEWS

Furnished by C. L. H. Branson

Sun Assurance Co. to quit Mexico.—Difficulties with government arose over investment of assets as guarantee, Mexico City.—The Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, one of two large foreign life insurance companies here, has determined to retire from the Mexican field. The decision follows nearly two years of negotiation with the Mexican Government in search of an arrangement under which, in opinion of company officials, they could engage in life insurance business in Mexico.

Difficulties between the Mexican Government and Sun Life and the Confederation Life Insurance Co. of Canada arose when the government cancelled the operating permits of the companies, claiming that to continue in business, assets of the Mexican branches would have to be guaranteed by Mexican securities.

Both companies suspended all business. They argued that a special permit obtained several years ago, they were entitled to invest their assets in foreign securities. They contended it had been agreed between the government and themselves that such investments could be made outside of Mexico so long as the Mexican Government failed to meet its obligations to foreign creditors.

Six months ago a tacit agreement was reached for resumption of business in Mexico, if the companies invested their assets in local subsidiaries of foreign companies, such investments to be guaranteed by the home office, but again difficulties were encountered and the agreement fell through.

The Confederation Life Insurance Co. is still negotiating with the government, and may remain in the Mexican field. Of the two companies, the Sun Life has underwritten the larger number of Mexican risks.

GENERAL MOTORS SALES HOLDING

Detroit, June 19.—Sales by General Motors during the second quarter have maintained a favorable comparison with like period, 1930, despite pressure of more unsatisfactory general business conditions. During April and May, total delivered to dealers ran slightly in advance of like months last year, with total of 307,982 cars and trucks for the two months against 298,144 in 1930, up 3.3 per cent. Domestic retail sales during two months have run slightly under 1930, but decrease of 5.6 per cent in these deliveries displays a more favorable comparison with 1930 than did decline of 19.1 per cent in retail sales during first quarter. Shipments to Canada and overseas points during April and May were substantially in advance of 1930, totaling 38,575 units, against 29,180 in same months last year.

N. Y. Market Analysis

The Wall Street Journal to-day says: "The unusually small volume of dealings has checked much of the enthusiasm which appeared to be in the process of formation only a week or two ago. Bulls who were working for higher prices in various stocks are disappointed with the reduced trading because it reflects the lack of outside participation, leaving control of the fluctuations entirely in the hands of the professional contingent. There is no doubt that there are funds available for speculation and investment, but the public has not been inclined to follow the market upward. Those who bought on a scale had decided to add to their lines either during further reaction or when stocks move through into new high territory for the recovery movement. Naturally they have not purchased the entire line they expected to carry but in view of the action of the market it is not probable that they will enter to purchase additional issues in the near future."

"Quite a few outsiders are insisting that the market must prove itself before they are willing to make additional gains on the long side. If the leading shares could be moved forward and hold their gains for a while it is likely that a public following could be attracted without such development many with money will remain on the side lines and they are being encouraged by their brokers to continue this waiting attitude for the present at least. Quite a few who purchased when stocks were lower several weeks ago have already accepted profits and these offerings helped to halt advancing trends in recent sessions."

The Handsome Man

W. H. U. SERVICE

He had over-reached himself and Roberta let him see that he had. "I couldn't. I didn't know he was coming or anything about him then."

"Well, then, you said something about him this morning."

Roberta looked extremely skeptical and opened her mouth to protest when Jack dropped his pistol.

"Oh, d-n, I jammed my finger! See here," he turned on her holding his finger in his handkerchief. "What difference does it make that you have forgotten you told me his name, when I say you did? Are we going to argue all morning about that? I have got to be off unless," and he stooped and smiled at her, "unless you want to come with me and convince me I am wrong."

Roberta shook her head, but she was puzzled. She did not like Jack's way of saying things to her directly. "Well, then I'll just start the old bus and see you again, when?"

"I don't know," Roberta was disturbed. "Meet me Friday, same place, and we'll plan things out."

"If I can."

"Oh, you'll be there—if you really care," and Jack was gone.

Roberta stared after him. She turned to go toward the house and saw the kill-joy, as she mentally called Sir George, come along the towpath.

He still looked puzzled, but when he looked into Roberta's hostile eyes, he saw there was no prospect of help in that quarter.

How could he go to this girl, who disliked him enough as it was, and question her about her recent companionship because the man looked like a type of bounder he had frequently seen on his way to and from Yuccatan?

CHAPTER V

But could he speak to the girl's father, or even to the girl herself, on the strength of a likeness, and that not very strong? He could not even remember the man's name!

When he came within hailing distance Roberta spoke: "Are you ready to go to the village with me to meet the bank manager?"

"Absolutely. Now!"

Immediately after luncheon. On the way back will stop at Green Bend for tea. Father says that you're fairly well acquainted in the city—he wants you to meet everybody here. We will have a dinner and dance this week for Aunt Aggy—

"Now I'm going to give you another day of this lying in the ditch—then I'm putting the jack under you! Doctor Gruba said you are well able to be up and around—so don't be trying to stretch the shirt-tail of your recent illness to cover a month of convalescing!"

"OH—IS THAT YOU, M'DEAR?—UM—M—I SEEM TO BE IN A SEMI-CONSCIOUS STATE, DUE TO MY CONDITION—ISN'T THAT TIME FOR MY CAKES AND TEA?"

and for you. I'll have to consult her as to the night."

"Awfully good of you," Sir George said mechanically, wishing that he might ask her a question or two about the lad in the blue car.

As though answering his thought, she continued with a disdainful grimace. "Entertaining here's the last stream of old fashioned stuff. It will be a mixture of old and young."

"Is the man I saw this morning one of the young?"

Roberta stopped short, flushed and answered him slowly: "No, he doesn't belong about here."

"Sorry. His face interested me."

"Oh, you will probably see him again," answered Sir George lightly, but she did not give him the man's name, and she had not made the slightest effort to introduce him this morning.

They sat around a table in a cheap Philadelphia restaurant, where they might have been, such is the uniformity of men to-day in their custom-made and fashionable clothing, anything but honest clerks at luncheon, in clothes, manners and language they resembled some of the crude but fairly straight business men of that district.

The oldest man, grey haired, with thin lips, was the head of the business. He had thought it out carefully during three years of imprisonment at Sing Sing and he had chosen his associates with care. It had been a profitable and exciting partnership, although the offices in this backwater street seemed dull and respectable enough.

The name on the door was, "The Office Two Register, Inc., and the office, two in number, were duly supplied with files and card indexes. If the police ever grew suspicious what was there to dread? All they would find was a quiet office run by one man, a stenographer and filing clerk. If they should by chance find the leader there, why here was a crook who was tired of the game and had settled down to earning an honest living, issuing a little blue book that told society climbers who was who, in that quarter of millionaires which constitutes America's aristocracy of money.

The youngest man present was Jack Navarro who was talking vehemently. While the others listened to him with attention, it could not be said that they listened with patience.

"You bring too little," the leader interrupted. "You say there is money in the country bank, but how much? You say this Englishman is about to be treated by his employer—but how far?"

Jack shrugged his shoulders. "I bring you what I can get," he told them sulkily. "If I ask too many questions, the girl may grow suspicious."

"Of what? Why should a rich kid like her have any suspicions? Have you been talking?"

"If I say too much," Jack snarled, "she will be suspicious that I am after her money. Even now there is trouble. She asks me to go to their house so

Why Shouldn't

"If Women Were Free to Do the Courting, as Men Are, There Would Be Not Only a Great Many More Marriages Than There Are, but There Would Be a Lot Happier and More Successful Ones"

IN THE dear, prudish, Victorian days a real lady was supposed never to think of marriage until some man up and popped the question to her. Then she blushed and stammered and exclaimed: "This is so sudden and I will have to consult my heart!" Which she did and was amazed to discover that without ever having suspected it she was deeply in love with the gentleman, whereupon she said "Yes," and they were duly and properly wed.

Without doubt, our grandmothers and our mammas were just as anxious to marry as any girl of to-day. Probably more so, because for them marriage was the only career open to women and a husband was not only a necessary meal ticket and card of admission to society, but he supplied the only real pep and interest to life. For a woman to have admitted, however, that she desired to marry and have a home and children would have been considered worse than indecent. It would have been held to be indecent. A woman might have the cosmic urge, but she kept it a deep, dark secret.

Not so in these frank times when women are not ashamed of being human beings and having natural human impulses and among these a desire for mates. In the course of a year I get hundreds of letters from women who honestly state that they want to marry and ask how they can go about getting a husband.

Generally these women are in their early middle age, for a woman never abandons hope of Prince Charming's riding by at any minute until after she has celebrated her thirtieth birthday. Most of them are intelligent and well educated and well placed in the world. Either through their own efforts or through inheritance they are financially independent, but they crave to fulfill the destiny for which they were created. They want their own man, their own babies, their own houses.

Of course, it is nothing but an idiotic old convention, that is as much out of place in this day of female emancipation as an ox wagon would be on an automobile highway, that prevents a woman who wants a husband from going out and openly and aboveboard proposing to any man she fancies. And why women, who have broken down every other barrier that stood in the way of their happiness and prosperity, haven't smashed in the door that led to the altar is a mystery nobody can explain. Certainly the right to help pick out the President or the town dog-catcher is a poor thing compared to the right to select the man you have to live with and who is to be the father of your children.

Moreover, if women were free to do the courting, as men are, there would be not only a great many more marriages than there are, but there would be a lot happier and more successful ones. For women are more astute in matters of the affections than men are and they often know better the kind of wife a man needs than he knows himself.

Men are caught by the surface attraction of a pretty face or the glamour of youth and pass over the sensible, mature woman who would make them good wives. But they would be open to conviction if the mature women could "sell" themselves to them and show them how comfortable they could be with wives who were good cooks and housekeepers and had a little money on the side and who were so anxious to be married that they would spoil their husbands to death.

There are many reasons besides the traditional one of lack of beauty or "it" why a woman does not marry. Sometimes in her early youth she was tied down to a sick parent. Sometimes she was overly chaperoned and given no chance to go out with the young people. Sometimes she was superior in education to the boys with whom she was thrown. Often she lived in a community where there were no eligible men.

But however it happened, when a woman gets to be thirty and there is no matrimonial prospect in sight, virtually her only chance of marrying consists in her seeking new fields. In her home town her place as an old maid is fixed. Men never think of her as being in the running. They are so accustomed to her that they have ceased to see her, or to notice how good-looking and interesting and charming she is. They may admire her and respect her and consider her a paragon of her sex, but they never think of her as a Lady Love or a possible wife. Her only chance is some old widower with a houseful of children who decides that she would make a good combination cook, nurse and general slave for him and his.

But if the woman goes into a new environment her status is changed. Nobody knows her age or is interested in it. Nobody pities her for not being married. They consider her highly eligible, especially if she has money. She provokes the interest that we all feel in strangers. She has the allure of novelty and, being away from those who know her and feel free to criticize her, she has the courage to wear the daring clothes and use the arts and wiles that she wouldn't have had the nerve to do at home.

So I should say to any woman who wants to get married to go North or East or South or West, anywhere among strangers. Go where men congregate. Get a new job with a new firm. You will never catch a man to whom you are an old story, but you can make a strange man sit up and take notice.

And good hunting to you.

Our Own Safety Week

"FIRE"

There is an old saying, "Fire is a good servant but a bad master." Fire is good when it cooks our meals or keeps us warm, but if it gets beyond control it may become a danger of the worst sort.

Matches, I am glad to say, have been greatly improved during the past thirty years. Safety matches for striking are in wide use, and this cuts down either smelt fire or heard me cry and came rushing to the rescue. She smothered the flames with her hands and thus saved my life.

Yes, in former times, it was the style for both boy and girl babies to wear long dresses, as well as shoes which were buttoned instead of being laced.

Since button shoes are now out of fashion, we need not worry about modern baby following my example, but matches may set a whole house on fire. Safety matches in small boxes cost little, but they help the cause of safety a great deal.

Many fires are caused by persons who take lighted candles or matches into attics or closets while searching for something. It is well to use a flashlight when you go to a dark part of the house.

Rags soaked with oil, gasoline or furniture polish may lead to a fire. Either destroy such rags or keep them in covered metal containers.

Guard bonfires carefully, so the flames will not spread to objects you do not wish to burn; and be sure to keep yourself far enough from the flames so your clothing will not take fire.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

Portage la Prairie, Man., June 19.

Two Dominion cabinet ministers will attend the Manitoba Conservative Party convention at Brandon next Wednesday.

It was announced here that Hon. T. O. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, and Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, would be present.

Lieut.-Col. F. G. Taylor, provincial conservative leader, was nominated to contest the Portage la Prairie constituency in the next general election.

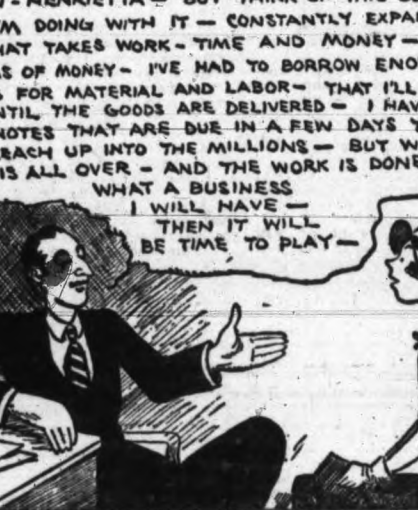

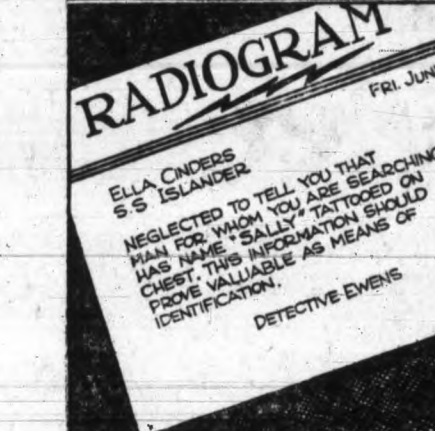

"I came near going up in smoke."

the danger. If a baby finds such a match, he will not strike it (though he may swallow it!).

Long matches which can be "struck anywhere" are still used in some households, and are a danger to babies and small children.

Once upon a time, I came close to grief because of a long match. I do not remember the event, for I was only a year and a half old at the time, but here is the story my elders told me after I grew older:

In some unknown manner, I obtained a match. I was alone in a room. Perhaps by trying to button my "button shoes," by using the match in place of a button-hook, I struck the match, and the flame spread to the dress I was wearing. I nearly went up in smoke, but my grandmother in the next room
